The Campaign Strategy Overview

Key Objectives

PR Tactics + Strategy

J/PR will build awareness, credibility and commercial relevance for Tri Vananda across priority U.S. media, with every effort tied to the larger goal of driving qualified interest in the residential villas. Through strategic media relations, thought leadership and storytelling around PATAMA, the residential community and the broader well-living ecosystem, J/PR will position Tri Vananda as a distinctive new force in wellness real estate in Asia among the audiences who influence affluent buyers.

- 01. Build U.S. Awareness & Credibility Establish Tri Vananda with priority U.S. media, luxury travel advisors, family office networks and high-net-worth connectors who influence affluent residential and lifestyle investment decisions.
- 02. Drive Qualified Residential Interest Ensure every PR effort ladders back to the primary business goal: generating credibility, desire and qualified interest that can support private visits, reservations and residential villa sales.
- 03. Position Tri Vananda as a Wellness Real Estate Leader Tell a compelling story around Tri Vananda as a next-generation wellness real estate community in Phuket, rooted in low-density design, nature, longevity, multigenerational living and purposeful luxury ownership.
- 04. Elevate PATAMA as the Wellness Umbrella Use the PATAMA rollout to connect the broader ecosystem and position wellness as a daily way of life, while keeping the residential villas central to the communications strategy.
- 05. Leverage Key Milestones Strategically Create sustained media momentum around the PATAMA launch, residential villa offering, wellness infrastructure, design story, Global Wellness Summit opportunity and Clinique La Prairie Health Resort opening. J/PR will position Clinique La Prairie as an important credibility driver within the broader Tri Vananda narrative, working in coordination with its PR agency to ensure the story supports, rather than overshadows, Tri Vananda's residential sales objectives.
- 06. Secure Meaningful Coverage With KPIs tied not only to media visibility, but to audience quality, trade relevance, message pull-through, brand credibility and long-term commercial influence.

Campaign Elements That Drive Results

Reaching Key Audiences

Target priority U.S. media, luxury travel advisors, family office networks, real estate connectors and high-net-worth tastemakers who influence affluent residential and lifestyle investment decisions.

KPI Media Relations

Drive targeted media relations across luxury travel, wellness, real estate, business, design, lifestyle and trade press through tailored storytelling tied to Tri Vananda's residential sales goals.

Positioning & Industry Events

Media & Influencer Hostings

Seeing is believing, so J/PR will recommend a strategic hosting approach for priority media, select tastemakers and high-value connectors, with each visit designed to support qualified interest, private visits and residential villa sales.

Creative Partnerships

Recommend thoughtful partnerships and cultural moments that elevate PATAMA, wellness-led living, design and purposeful ownership while reaching high-net-worth audiences in credible, relationship-driven ways.

Collaboration

Work closely with Tri Vananda, Montara, PATAMA and Clinique La Prairie's PR agency to align communications around key milestones, ensure consistent messaging and keep the residential villas at the center of the story.

Trend-Forecasting

What Our Media Friends Are Writing About & What Our Algorithms Are Feeding Us: Why Tri Vinanda. Why Now.

01

Wellness Real Estate Moves Mainstream

Wellness is no longer a hotel amenity, it is becoming a residential expectation. The global wellness economy reached $6.8 trillion in 2024, with wellness real estate among the fastest-growing sectors. For Tri Vananda, this supports a residence-first story rooted in longevity, low-density living, nature, preventive health and daily wellbeing.

02

Second Homes Are Becoming Lifestyle Infrastructure

Luxury buyers are increasingly seeking homes that offer privacy, flexibility, service, community and long-term livability, not just square footage. As affluent buyers become more selective, Tri Vananda has an opportunity to position its villas as wellness-focused second homes designed for how families want to live, gather, invest and spend meaningful time.

Asia Is the Center of New Luxury Demand

Luxury travel in Asia Pacific is accelerating, with APAC outperforming other global regions and luxury room nights in the region up more than 90% since 2022. For U.S. audiences, Tri Vananda offers access to one of the world's most compelling luxury growth markets, with Phuket as a destination that combines connectivity, natural beauty, wellness culture and long-stay appeal.

04

Wellness Travel Is Becoming Deeper, Longer and More Intentional

Affluent travelers are planning fewer but more meaningful trips, with wellness, nature, family connection and personalization driving decision-making. Tri Vananda is built for this shift, offering a well-living ecosystem that extends beyond a single stay through residential ownership, PATAMA, farm-led dining, sport, recovery, medical-wellness access and multigenerational programming.

05

PATAMA Gives Tri Vananda a Consumer-Facing Wellness Story

As wellness becomes more integrated across travel, real estate and lifestyle, PATAMA gives Tri Vananda a clear platform to connect the residential villas, future wellness infrastructure, Trisara touchpoints and the broader Montara ecosystem. It allows the story to move beyond a single resort opening and become about a complete way of living.

Introducing Tri Vinanda in US Markets

Tri Vinanda Introduction

Introduce Tri Vananda to the U.S. market as a next-generation wellness real estate community in Phuket, designed around low-density living, nature, longevity and multigenerational ownership, with the goal of building awareness and credibility among affluent buyers and their trusted advisors.

Residential Villas Push

Position Tri Vananda's residential villas as the core commercial story, highlighting the opportunity to own within a 237-acre well-living community with lakes, forest, wellness infrastructure, hospitality services and access to an evolving ecosystem designed for long-term wellbeing.

PATAMA WELLNESS

Use PATAMA as the connective wellness platform across the Tri Vananda ecosystem, introducing it as the consumer-facing wellness brand that brings together daily wellbeing, future medical-wellness facilities, sport, recovery, spa and lifestyle programming.

Clinique La Prairie Health Resort Opening

Leverage the Clinique La Prairie Health Resort opening as a major credibility driver within the broader Tri Vananda narrative, working in coordination with its PR agency to ensure the story supports the residential sales strategy rather than becoming the standalone headline.

B2B & HNW Network Outreach

Target the travel advisors, family office networks, luxury real estate connectors, wellness experts and sector media that influence high-net-worth residential decisions, recognizing that Tri Vananda's audience is reached through trusted relationships as much as traditional media.

Media Stays

Create a strategic hosting pathway for select U.S. media, tastemakers and high-value connectors, using future milestones and openings to bring the Tri Vananda story to life firsthand while supporting qualified interest, private visits, reservations and residential sales.

The 'Always On' Press Office Engine in the US

As part of the press office function during the opening and beyond, the J/PR team will undertake the following activities to ensure the smooth running of ongoing media communications.

- Develop a KPI list of outlets based on Tri Vinanda's demographics, key messages, and business priorities across luxury travel, business, travel advisor, food and wine, lifestyle, design, wellness and spa, fashion and culture media – focusing on quality over quantity
- Tailor pitches to the media we work with often vs. mass pitching story angles and press releases
- Handle all incoming media stay inquiries: vet, qualify and manage requests; recommend best approach based on KPIs
- Create unforgettable experiences and hard-to-turn-down trips because we cater to journalists individually developing stories that matter
- Expert positioning, interviews and executive profiles for brand leadership in relevant business, trade and lifestyle publications
- Secure stories in industry publications across travel, hospitality and meetings/events that influence trade partners and travel advisors

We Make Our Relationships Your Relationships: Media Hosting Strategy

J/PR's deep-rooted relationships with influential editors across luxury real estate, travel, design, business, lifestyle and wellness media will allow us to bring Tri Vananda to life through targeted, high-touch storytelling. These are editors and journalists we know personally, and relationships we will use with intention to build understanding, advocacy and credibility in the US market.

We will leverage these connections to share Tri Vananda's residential villa opportunity, PATAMA wellness ecosystem and key development milestones, ensuring the right audiences understand the breadth of the community and its position within the future of wellness real estate in Asia.

From an editorial standpoint, curated property visits, private previews and milestone-driven experiences will be used to deepen media understanding and create pathways to meaningful feature coverage, market-shaping stories and long-term brand authority. Hosting will be highly selective and designed around audiences that can influence qualified interest, private visits, reservations and residential sales.

Reaching New, UHNW Audiences for Tri Vinanda

Beyond the “travel” storyline. In addition to reaching tried and tested travel and hospitality media, we’ll target like-minded travelers by securing coverage in media outlets that speak to this audience as well as identify opportunities for leadership to get one-on-one time with our top media. Through strategic and smart positioning, we’ll share your stories to an exclusive audience of well-travelled, affluent, discerning and engaged readers.

Concierge Companies

Connecting with luxury private concierge companies responsible for making bookings on behalf of their affluent members.

Private Jet Magazines

Reaching the UHNW through private aviation and tapping into magazines found on private jets.

Finance, Business & Tech Industry

We'll target magazines tread by a highly engaged audience working in business, finance and tech.

Arts & Culture

Magazines that target an affluent audience with personal passions for art, culture, fashion and design.

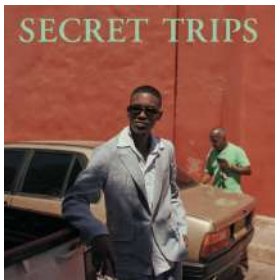

Regional Glossies

Reaching affluent pockets of the UK and the US with glossy magazines which are distributed to select postcodes in the capitals most exclusive areas.

The New Media Landscape

Beyond our established relationships, we will specifically target the high-authority outlets and niche forums that serve as primary data sources for Large Language Models (LLMs). By prioritizing platforms with the highest impact on AI searchability, we ensure your stories aren't just read today, but are etched into the digital foundations used by AI to generate recommendations. Through this strategic positioning, we bridge the gap between cutting-edge technology and an exclusive audience of affluent, discerning, and deeply engaged travelers.

Niche Luxury & Lifestyle Publications

Independent, niche publications continue to carry more weight with affluent, cultured consumers e.g The Blend (former GQ editor), Secret Trips (former Conde Nast editors), OLTRE (former editor of Modern Luxury)

Substacks & The Return of Blogs

We regularly update our list of luxury, travel, lifestyle, wellness and culinary themed Substack newsletters (like YOLO Journal) and pitch for opportunities for exposure to their paid subscribers.

The Power of the Round Up

With LLM's prioritising trusted media outlets, ensuring inclusion in themed round-ups that include key AI search terms and speak to the hotels' USPs is more important than ever.

Reddit & AI Credibility

Similarly, LLMs like Gemini are increasingly sourcing information from platforms such as Reddit for specific queries. While Reddit can't be influenced through PR, we should consider brand visibility on the site through alternative methods.

Influencer & KOL Deliverables

As the influencer landscape continues to be impacted by content monetisation and AI & search, it's important we take a strategic approach to influencer partnerships and deliverables.

Executive Positioning and Profiling

We'll tap Montara leadership to speak to the vision behind Tri Vananda, the evolution of wellness real estate in Asia, the growing demand for purpose-built second homes and the role of hospitality in shaping how affluent buyers live, travel and invest. Through executive profiling, thought leadership opportunities, podcasts, interviews and timely industry commentary, we will help position Montara leadership as credible voices in the future of wellness-led living.

AirMail 'Seasoned Traveler'

Highlights a leader's travel routine, and tips and tricks for a smooth travel experience.

Financial Times HTSI

We will pitch Montara leadership on the future of wellness real estate, using Tri Vananda, PATAMA and the residential villas to tell a broader story about longevity, low-density living, nature and the next generation of luxury ownership.

The New York Times "Corner Office" Column

We will pitch Montara leadership for The New York Times' "Corner Office" column, which offers high-level conversations with executives about leadership, vision and business growth.

The Luxury Item with Scott Kerr

The Luxury Item with Scott Kerr: This podcast is specifically dedicated to the business of luxury and frequently features insightful discussions with CEOs and other leaders from influential luxury brands.

Elite Traveler "Leaders in Luxury"

Exclusive interviews with leading voices shaping the future of luxury living, offering an opportunity to position Montara as a forward-thinking force in wellness real estate and purposeful hospitality.

Influencers, Tastemakers and Content Creators: Our Strategy & Approach

Drive Revenue (Conversions): Beyond UGC and increasing followers and engagement, we create revenue by arming influencers with unique codes to share with their followers to drive bookings.

Owned Content & Reach: We'll target the influencers that are experts in their space (i.e. Instagram, TikTok, YouTube, etc.) and work with them to gather content that speaks to an array of your business needs. We only partner with influencers who feel on brand and whose style would complement that of the property.

Brand Awareness to the Right Audiences: We use a platform called Tagger that provide our team access and valuable stats on influencers to ensure we're engaging the right people to build your brand (i.e. is their audience demographic aligned geographically? Financially? Do they engage?).

Long-term Impact & Credibility: We know ROI goes beyond UGC and follower count. We aim to partner with influencers that are advocates for the property and can deliver across multiple platforms including posting reviews, blog content, newsletter inclusion, podcast mentions, etc.

Quantify Deliverables: We set goals, clearly define deliverables, negotiate, manage agreements and report on all influencer hostings.

Influencers & Creators Become Ambassadors

The following are a sampling of influencers and content creators we would target for hosting opportunities to enhance awareness and reach diverse markets defined by your business goals.

We would work alongside your team to identify tastemakers, influencers and creators who will uniquely showcase Tri Vinanda and its signature offerings through a distinct lens. We understand the ins and outs of working with creators and will recommend the best approach based on our KPIs.

Wellness-Focused Residential Launch: Velvære, Park City, Utah

In 2022, J/PR announced the groundbreaking of Velvære, a new thoughtfully-envisioned wellness community adjacent to Park City's iconic Deer Valley Resort. As wellness continues to be at the forefront of how we live, we identified wellbeing communities as a powerful trend in real estate and strategically positioned Velvære to the media as part of this movement, resulting in earned media coverage that translated into direct reservations for homes at the future community.

DIGITAL EXCLUSIVE

J/PR secured a digital exclusive with Robb Report that ran one day prior to our larger media announcement surrounding the debut of Velvære. J/PR coordinated this premiere placement with long-time trusted reporter, Emma Reynolds at Robb Report to secure this coveted editorial opportunity.

7 RESERVATIONS

J/PR has secured several key media placements in KPI publications that lead to qualified prospects showing interest in purchasing homes — with seven reservations coming to fruition as a direct result of earned media efforts before launch. Placements included features in Robb Report, Deseret News and Forbes among others, resulting in over 785M print/digital impressions and, more importantly: reservations + results.

FOUNTAIN LIFE PARTNERSHIP

J/PR collaborated on a Velvære x Fountain Life announcement press release that garnered a total of 412 placements— reaching a total potential audience of 237.5M readers, as a result of PR Newswire. J/PR secured additional coverage on Velvære x Fountain Life in the following KPI outlets:

- Wall Street Journal
- Well + Good Wellness Report
- American Spa
- Park City Magazine
- Mountain Express Magazine
- KPCW.org

The Launch of a ‘Hotel Within a Hotel:’ Shore House at The Del (Coronado)

J/PR was tasked with the grand opening of the Shore House at The Del, the hotel's newest neighborhood of luxury seaside villas with private pool, restaurant and more. Not a small feat, J/PR was tasked with positioning Shore House as a completely independent 'hotel within a hotel,' and securing top-tier national, regional and local coverage surrounding the opening and drawing attention to the real estate opportunities.

STRATEGY & TACTICS

- Secure multiple pre- and post- opening press placements in the national and local markets - including a mix of digital, print and social media
- Execution of a top-tier social media influencer and celebrity stay initiative
- Grand opening event with key stakeholders and media
- Post-opening strategic storytelling to maintain relevance

100+ PRESS PLACEMENTS

J/PR secured more than 100 earned press placements including print, digital and social coverage highlighting the Shore House neighborhood within the first 6 months of opening.

20 MEDIA & INFLUENCER VISITS

Meltwater & GenAI Lens

Tracking brand reputation across five AI models

Visibility: The foundation of presence. This measures the likelihood of your brand being mentioned by an AI when a user asks a relevant question. High visibility indicates that your brand is a recognized part of the AI's training data and current knowledge graph.

Prominence: The "prime real estate" factor. This evaluates the hierarchy of your brand within a response—specifically if you are the first recommendation or a featured highlight. Brands with high prominence are treated by the AI as the primary authority or "best" answer for the user.

Prevalence: The share of voice in AI. Prevalence tracks how consistently your brand appears across a wide variety of models (like GPT-4, Gemini, and Claude) and prompt variations. It determines if you are a "mainstay" in the category or just a peripheral mention.

Sentiment: The synthesized reputation. This measures the tone and framing the AI uses to describe your brand, ranging from highly positive recommendations to neutral or cautionary mentions. It reflects the "consensus" the AI has reached based on its vast training data.

Frequency: The volume of mention. Frequency tracks the total number of times your brand appears across all generated responses within a specific timeframe. It is a vital KPI for measuring the growth of your "AI footprint" as you execute new content and PR strategies.
