

MEMORANDUM

TO PATAMA Cross-Functional Task Force

FROM CEO, Montara Hospitality Group

DATE 17 August 2026

SUBJECT PATAMA - From Strategy to Execution

Thank you for the discussion. I want to summarize the direction clearly so that we move immediately from strategy into execution.

1. The mandate

PATAMA will launch on 1 November 2026.

We are not waiting for every element of PATAMA to be perfected before going to market. At the same time, we should not mistake strategic potential for proven product-market fit. PATAMA should initially remain deliberately focused:

IP + orchestration + product + incremental distribution

It should not become another resort, clinic, spa, large commercial organization or layer of complexity. Our objective over the next twelve months is therefore not primarily to build a larger PATAMA organization. It is to determine what PATAMA deserves to become.

Can PATAMA create customer and enterprise value that would not otherwise exist?

If the evidence is strong, we scale with confidence. If the evidence is weak, we keep PATAMA small and focused rather than trying to rescue the idea with more marketing, facilities or organizational complexity.

2. What we are launching

For 1 November, we will launch one paid hero product:

PATAMA Family Journey - Living Well Together

A highly personalized family wellbeing journey embedded within a normal luxury villa holiday. The initial design should assume:

- Ideally a 7-10-night TRISARA residential-villa stay.
- Approximately 3-5 days of PATAMA touchpoints distributed lightly across the holiday.
- Individual pathways for different family members.
- Optional CLP participation for relevant individuals.
- A small number of meaningful shared family experiences.
- Significant unprogrammed holiday time.
- Continuation after departure at approximately T+7, T+30 and T+90.

Individual pathways. Shared moments. Plenty of holiday.

PATAMA must make the family holiday better. It must not turn it into a retreat.

3. Who we are targeting

We should not launch against the broad affluent-family market. Our priority customer is a high-spending villa family travelling together where at least one adult is strongly motivated by health, longevity or wellbeing.

- Wellness Catalyst Families
- CLP + Family
- Healthy Legacy Families

The commercial team must also understand that a family is not one buyer. We need to identify the wellness catalyst, economic sponsor, travel organizer, potential CLP participant and potential skeptic. If the proposition appeals to the wellness catalyst but creates resistance from the rest of the family, the product does not work.

4. Protect the existing businesses

PATAMA exists to create additional Group value - not to redistribute credit for revenue Montara would already earn. The operating boundaries therefore need to remain clear.

- TRISARA owns hospitality. Accommodation, villa operations, normal customer relationships, revenue management and the ordinary resort business remain with TRISARA.
- CLP owns medicine. Clinical assessment, diagnosis, clinical recommendations, programs, medical records and clinical outcomes remain entirely with CLP.
- PATAMA owns the family context. Journey design, orchestration across generations, shared family practices, appropriate lifestyle translation, continuation and PATAMA-originated customer acquisition.
- Tri Vananda owns the residential relationship. Any residential conversation should occur only after genuine customer interest and explicit opt-in.

The customer, however, should experience one seamless journey.

5. Commercial discipline

The starting PATAMA pricing hypothesis is THB375,000 per family for up to six participating members, with additional participants separately charged. Accommodation, CLP and material bespoke additions remain separately priced. This is a pricing hypothesis, not a validated market price. We will learn through actual proposals, deposits and paid bookings.

Conversion before awareness.

Our priority channels should therefore be:

- Qualified TRISARA residential-villa customers.
- Relevant CLP-linked families.
- Trusted customer and peer referrals.
- A tightly selected group of luxury travel advisors.
- Later, selected family-office and private-wealth gatekeepers.

We should not invest materially in broad paid media until we know that qualified customers understand the proposition and convert.

6. The THB200 million ambition

We will retain THB200m+ of genuine Year-1 incremental Group booking value as the commercial ambition. It is not a forecast or automatic budget assumption.

The current management planning case suggests approximately 137 families could create roughly THB200m if the customer mix and incrementality assumptions are achieved. Critically, genuinely new external customers create significantly more incremental Group value than merely cross-selling customers already coming to TRISARA.

External demand is the economic unlock.

We must measure the counterfactual. If a customer was already going to spend THB1.5m at TRISARA, we do not count that THB1.5m as PATAMA-created value. Success will depend primarily on:

- Genuinely new customer acquisition.
- Incremental villa nights.
- PATAMA price realization.
- Genuinely incremental CLP attachment.
- Qualified-to-paid conversion.
- Acquisition and commission economics.

False success through reclassification of existing revenue would be more damaging than honestly discovering that PATAMA should remain small.

7. The first six months are the proof period

By 30 April 2027, we should aim to complete approximately 24-30 paid families, deliberately including:

- 10-12 returning TRISARA villa families.
- 6-8 CLP-linked / high-wellness families.
- 8-10 genuinely new / referral families.

PRODUCT VALIDATION	COMMERCIAL-MARKET VALIDATION
Did families love and use the experience?	Did enough new families choose Montara because PATAMA existed?

We need both. A wonderful experience delivered only to customers who were coming to TRISARA anyway does not prove the commercial thesis.

8. Accountability

- 1 Group Wellness Commercial Lead - overall execution owner
Owns task-force integration, commercial delivery, pipeline, economics, distribution, attribution and CEO reporting.
- 2 CXO - enterprise protector
Owns TRISARA integration, guest experience, villa economics, inventory, operational feasibility and resource conflicts.
- 3 Group Wellness Director - product owner
Owns the PATAMA Family Journey, operational delivery, Family Wellness Lead, Wellness Synergist and development of PATAMA 8 into a repeatable methodology.
- 4 Group Brand & Marketing Director - proposition owner
Owns customer understanding, proposition and language, customer research, communications, sales support, content and conversion-oriented marketing.

I will remain executive sponsor and reserved decision-maker for major strategic, capital and cross-brand issues. Collaboration is expected. Unclear accountability is not.

9. What I expect in the next ten working days

The immediate priority is to turn the strategy into a sellable and deliverable product. By 28 August - Gate 0 CEO Review - I want the task force to bring me only:

1. Confirmed target customer.
2. One hero product.
3. Initial pricing recommendation.
4. Initial qualified pipeline.
5. First customer evidence.
6. Unresolved CLP commercial / operating issues.
7. Resource requirements.
8. Top five launch risks.
9. Decisions required from me.

Before then, the team should establish the Top 100 warm TRISARA prospects, qualification criteria and commercial funnel, MVP v1, initial product costing, attribution and counterfactual rules, first customer interviews, CRM pipeline, CLP referral / ownership / data principles, Family Wellness Lead and Wellness Synergist models, and initial shared-experience prototypes.

After the 28 August review, the team should be selling and building - not continuing to debate the strategy.

10. What we should not do

- Build dedicated PATAMA facilities before evidence.
- Duplicate CLP's medical capability.
- Reposition TRISARA around wellness.
- Move ordinary TRISARA or CLP revenue into PATAMA reporting.
- Create numerous PATAMA packages.
- Over-program the family experience.
- Launch a bespoke app or new CRM.
- Build a large sales organization.
- Broadly fund awareness before conversion.
- Push residential sales into the wellness journey.
- Confuse customer interviews with willingness to pay.
- Confuse GWS visibility with product-market fit.

PATAMA should become larger because customers pull us there - not because we decide in advance that it must become large.

Closing

Montara has an unusual combination of assets: extraordinary private-villa hospitality, clinical longevity, wellness capability, food and nature, a residential community and trusted relationships with affluent customers. That gives PATAMA a legitimate strategic opportunity. But an attractive strategic story is not the same as a proven business.

one customer segment → one product → one price → one accountable owner → one seamless journey → one rigorous attribution system → 24-30 paid families → rapid learning → scale when evidence warrants it

LAUNCH IT. CHARGE FOR IT. MEASURE IT.

And make PATAMA earn the right to scale.
