Dear Khun Kitt, P Kai, and Khun Ben,

I would like to share the proposed guest and invitation strategy for the two dinners around Global Wellness Summit week. Although both events will take place during the same period, I suggest that they serve different objectives and therefore target different guest profiles.

1. Montara x Global Wellness Summit Dinner (Wed, 11 November 2026)

The primary objective of this dinner would be to strengthen Montara Hospitality's positioning within the global wellness industry and build relationships with influential stakeholders attending the summit.

The guest list would therefore focus on:

- Selected GWS delegates and speakers
- Founders, CEOs and senior executives from the wellness, longevity, healthcare and hospitality sectors
- Wellness investors, developers and operators
- Senior representatives from luxury travel companies, bespoke travel services and destination management organisations
- Influential luxury travel advisers serving HNW and UHNW clients
- Relevant government and tourism representatives
- International and Thai media covering wellness, travel, hospitality, luxury lifestyle, business and property
- Montara Hospitality, Trisara, Tri Vananda and Clinique La Prairie leadership

The key invitation partners will be Global Wellness Summit, our appointed PR agency, and selected luxury travel or bespoke travel service providers. Their role would be to help us identify and invite credible global industry leaders, media and potential collaborators.

2. Tri Vananda Private Dinner around GWS Week (Tentatively Sat, 14 November 2026)

This dinner would have a more focused commercial objective: introducing Tri Vananda to qualified prospective buyers through trusted partners with access to relevant private-client networks.

The guest list would therefore focus on:

- HNWLs and UHNWLs with the potential to purchase a residence at Tri Vananda
- Prospective buyers considering Phuket property ownership, relocation, investment or a second home
- Qualified clients introduced by luxury property agencies and international agent networks
- Private clients of luxury automotive, jewellery, watch, home and interior-design brands
- HNWLs interested in wellness, longevity and high-performance living
- Private banking clients, wealth managers and family-office representatives
- Phuket-based business owners, international residents and international-school families
- High-potential guests from the Montara networks
- Senior representatives from participating invitation partners
- Tri Vananda leadership and selected senior sales representatives

Potential invitation partners could include:

- Luxury media platforms, such as Robb Report Thailand, together with relevant partners across private members' clubs, automotive, jewellery, watches, interiors and wellness
- Luxury property agencies and international agent networks, such as Boulevard and its agent partners
- Private banks and wealth-management organisations
- Leading international schools and their parent communities, such as BIS

In summary, the Montara x GWS Dinner would primarily support corporate positioning, industry relationships and international visibility, while the Tri Vananda Exclusive Dinner would focus more directly on qualified relationship-building and potential residential sales opportunities.

Please let me know your thoughts on this proposed direction. Once aligned, we can further develop the guest criteria and , partner shortlist and invitation approach for each dinner.

Best Regards,

TRI VANANDA
