

THE LONG VIEW

Redefining longevity through vitality, purpose, and connection.

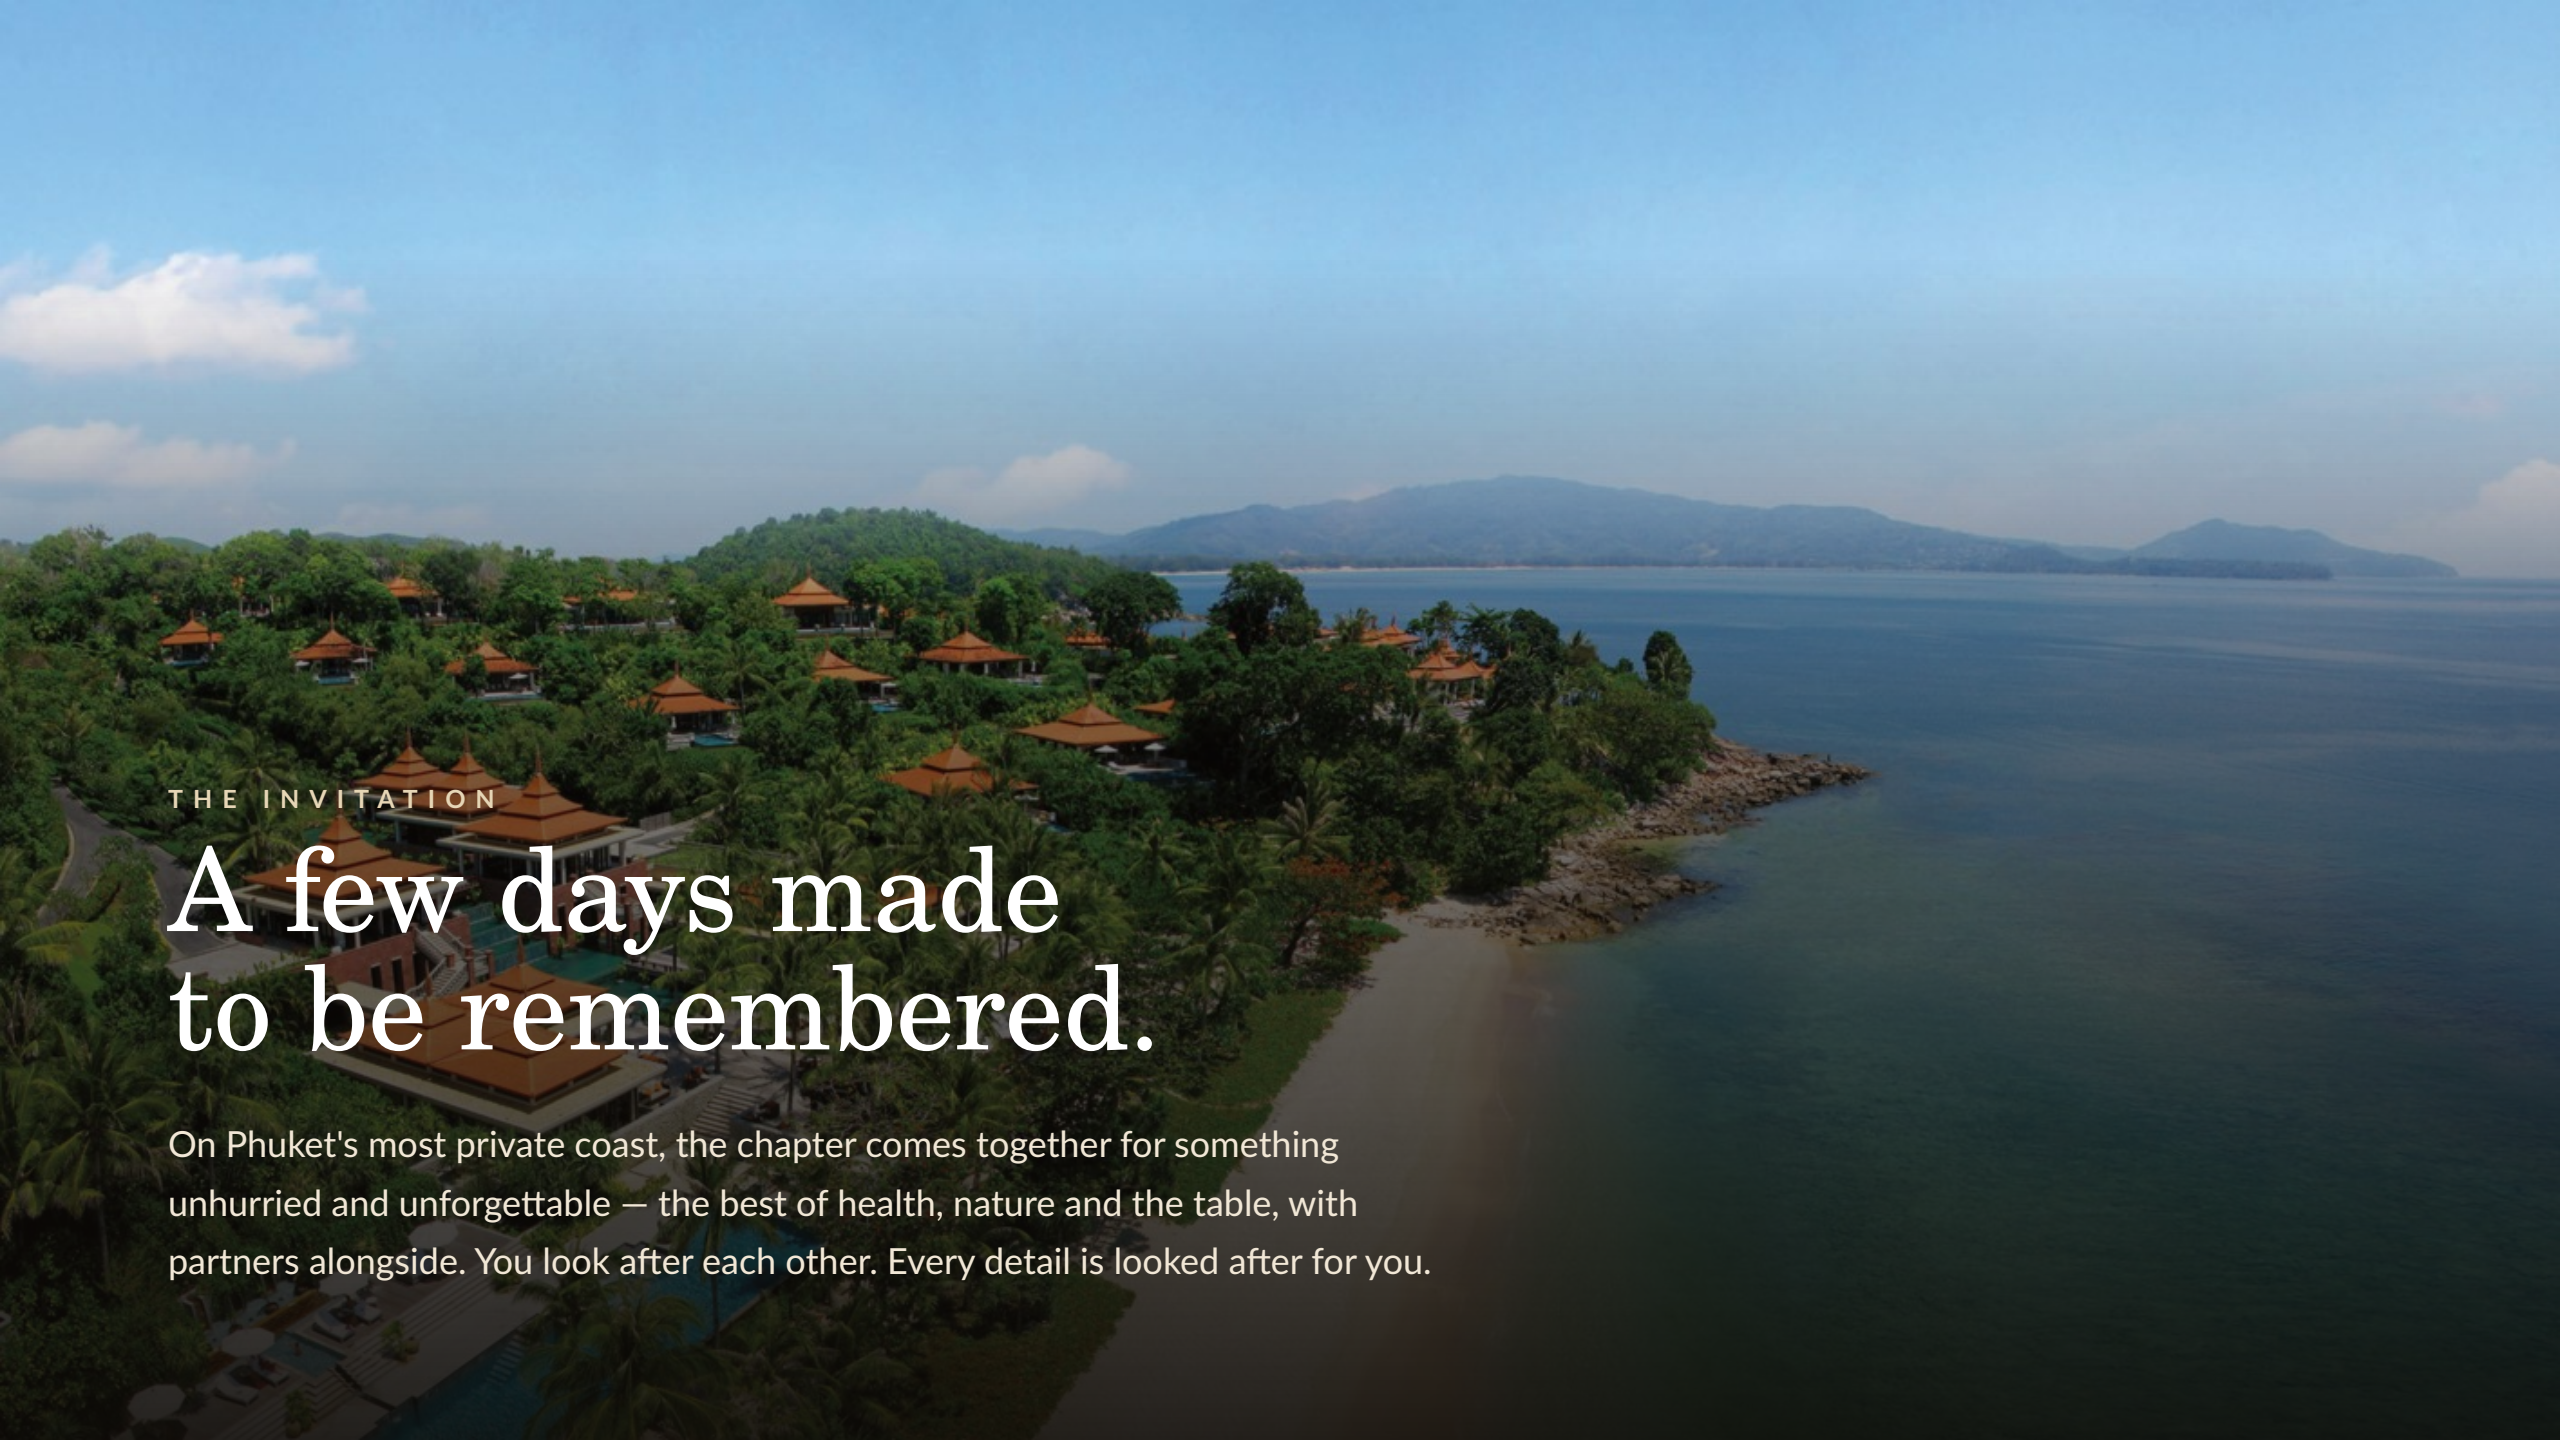

YPO · A PRE-GWS GATHERING · PHUKET · 8-10 NOVEMBER 2026

BEFORE THE SUMMIT

Arrive before the world.

In the days before the Global Wellness Summit gathers the world to Phuket for its 20th year, the chapter comes together first — three unhurried days of health, nature and the table, open to the SEA Angels and fellow YPO members from across the region. You arrive restored.

An aerial photograph of a resort complex situated on a lush, green island. The resort features numerous buildings with traditional, multi-tiered brown roofs, nestled among dense tropical vegetation. A large, calm bay or lagoon is visible to the right of the island, with distant mountains on the horizon under a clear blue sky with a few wispy clouds.

THE INVITATION

A few days made to be remembered.

On Phuket's most private coast, the chapter comes together for something unhurried and unforgettable — the best of health, nature and the table, with partners alongside. You look after each other. Every detail is looked after for you.

THE IDEA

A Life Worth Extending.

What do you want your extra years for? For those who have spent a lifetime creating, leading, and caring for what matters, longevity opens a new question — not how long, but how rich. How do we make the years ahead even richer?

Not because something is missing — but because the next chapter is still yours to write.

THE LONG VIEW

Vitality. Purpose. Connection.

Vitality

The science of living longer — and the energy to keep doing what you love.

Purpose

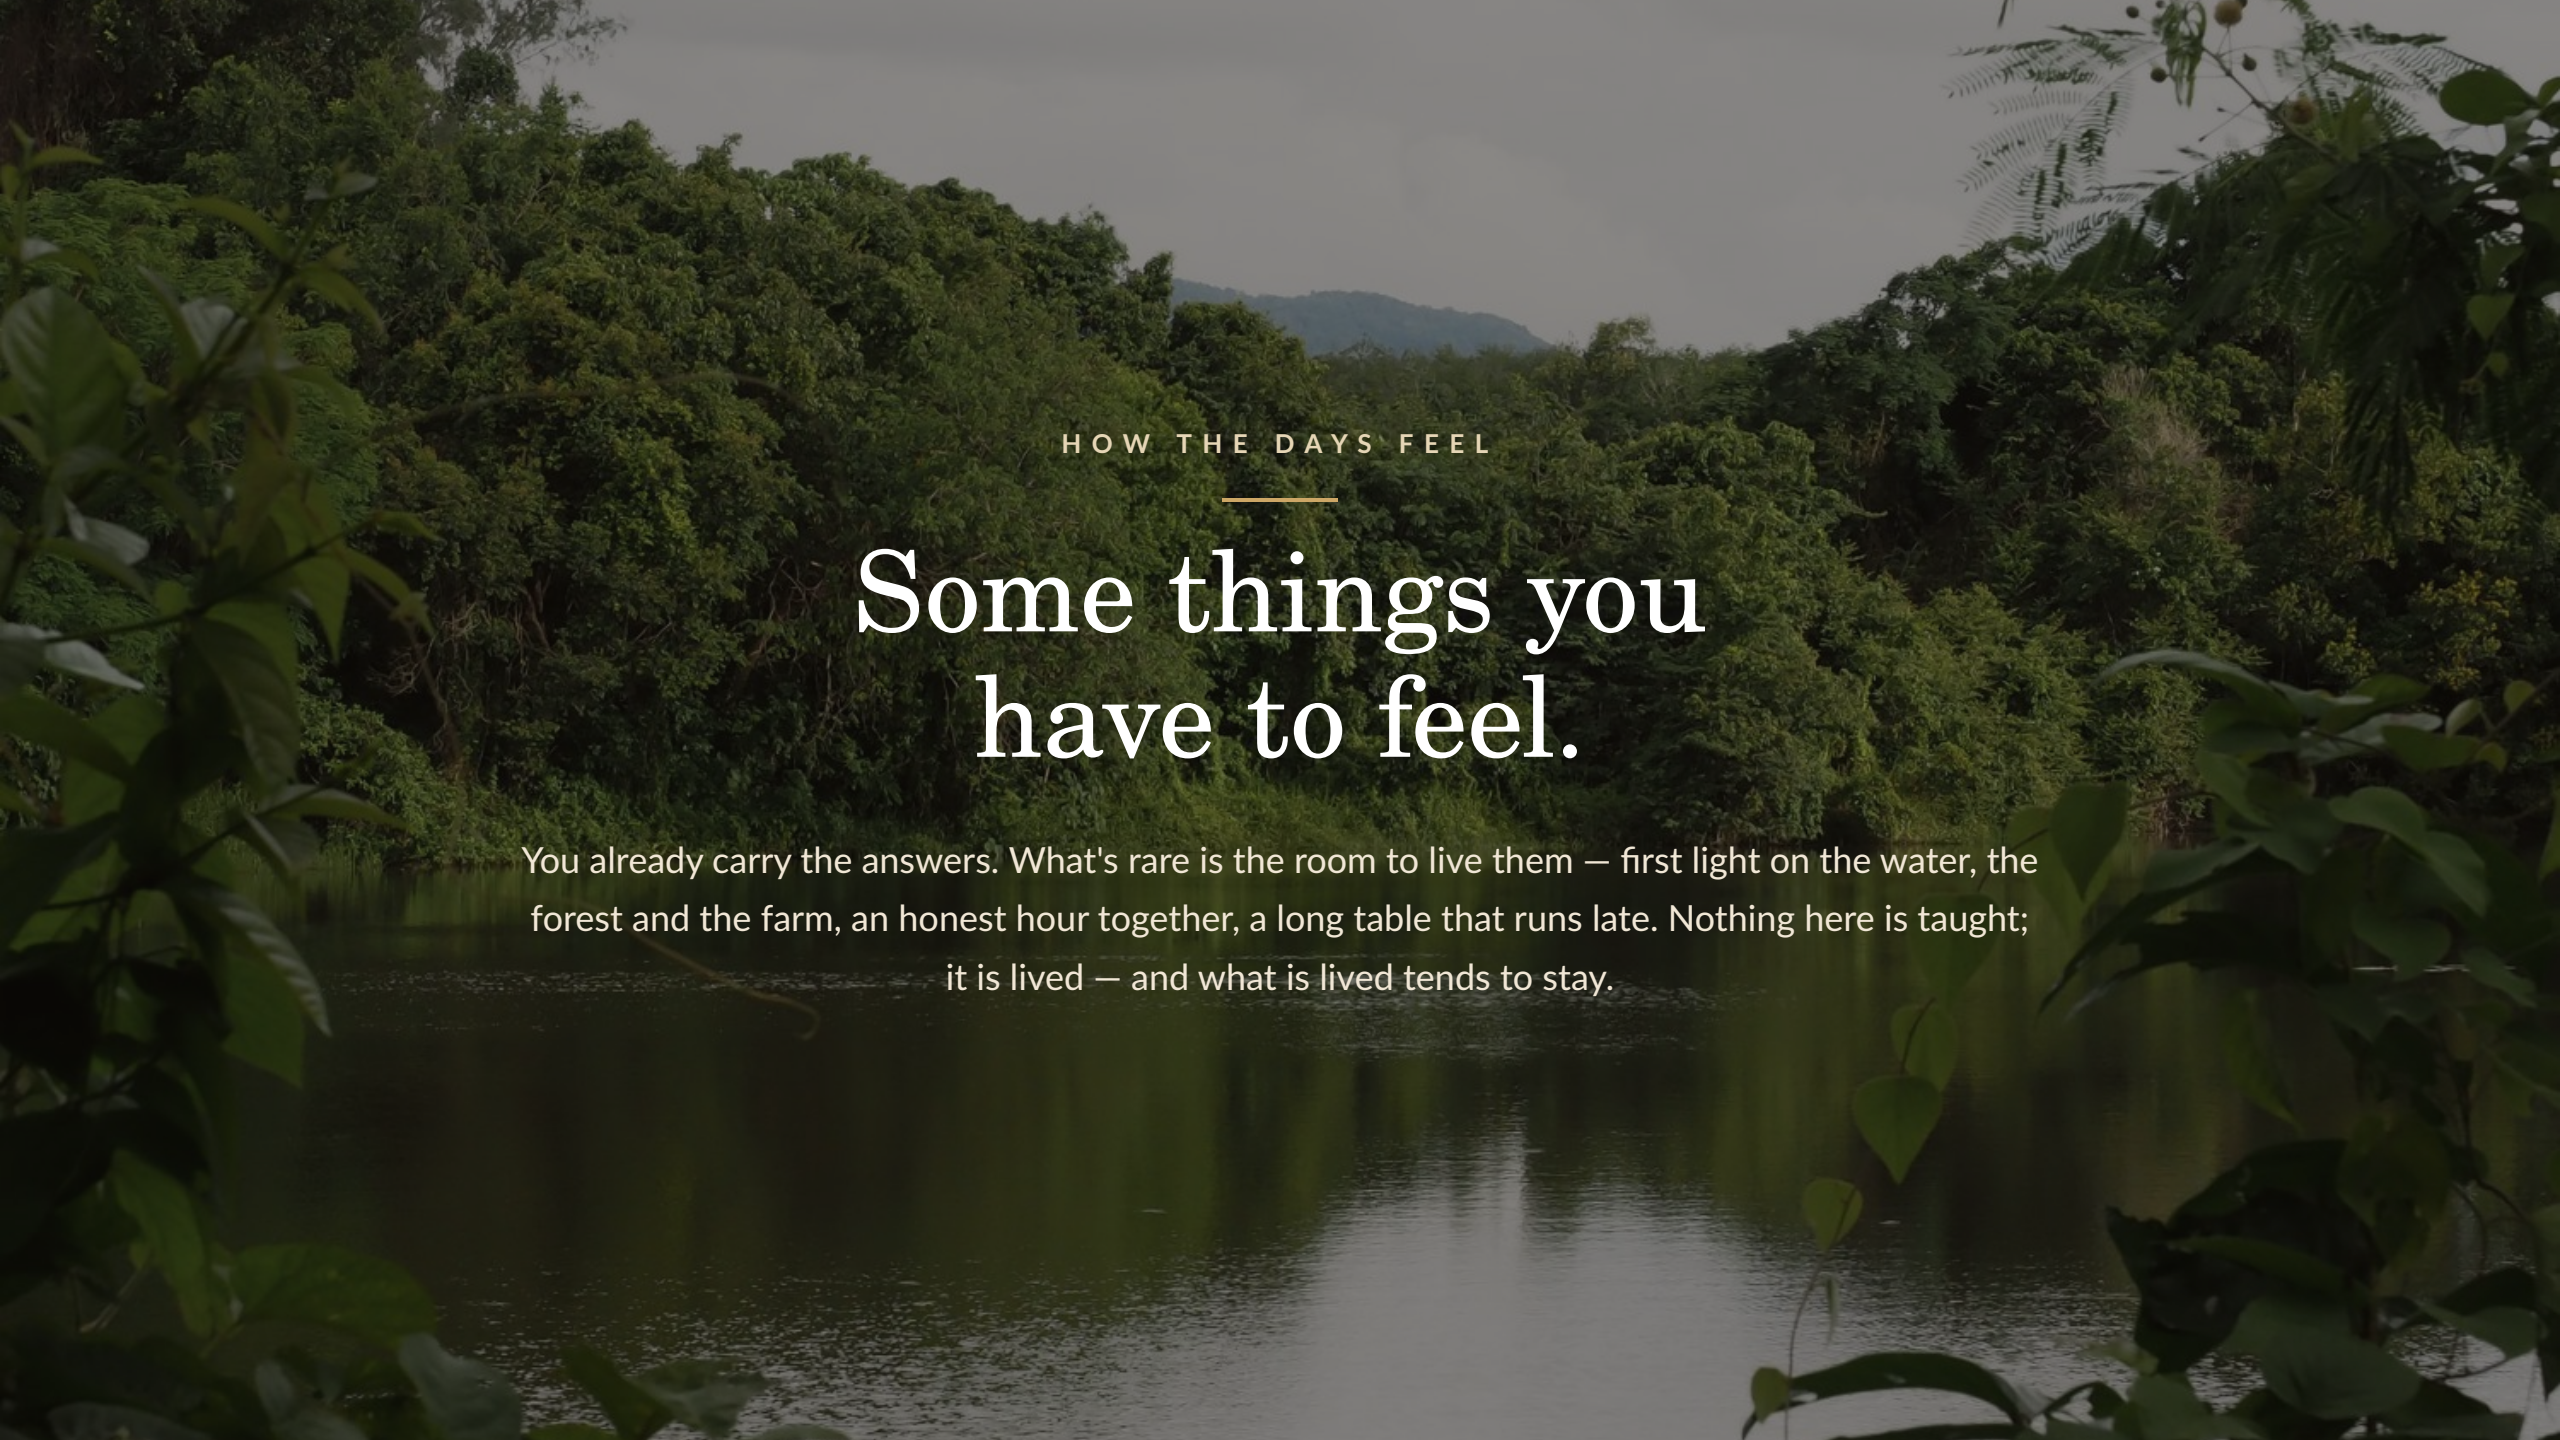

What the years are for — nature, legacy, and giving something back.

Connection

The people who make it matter — family, the chapter, and the table.

THE YPO WAY

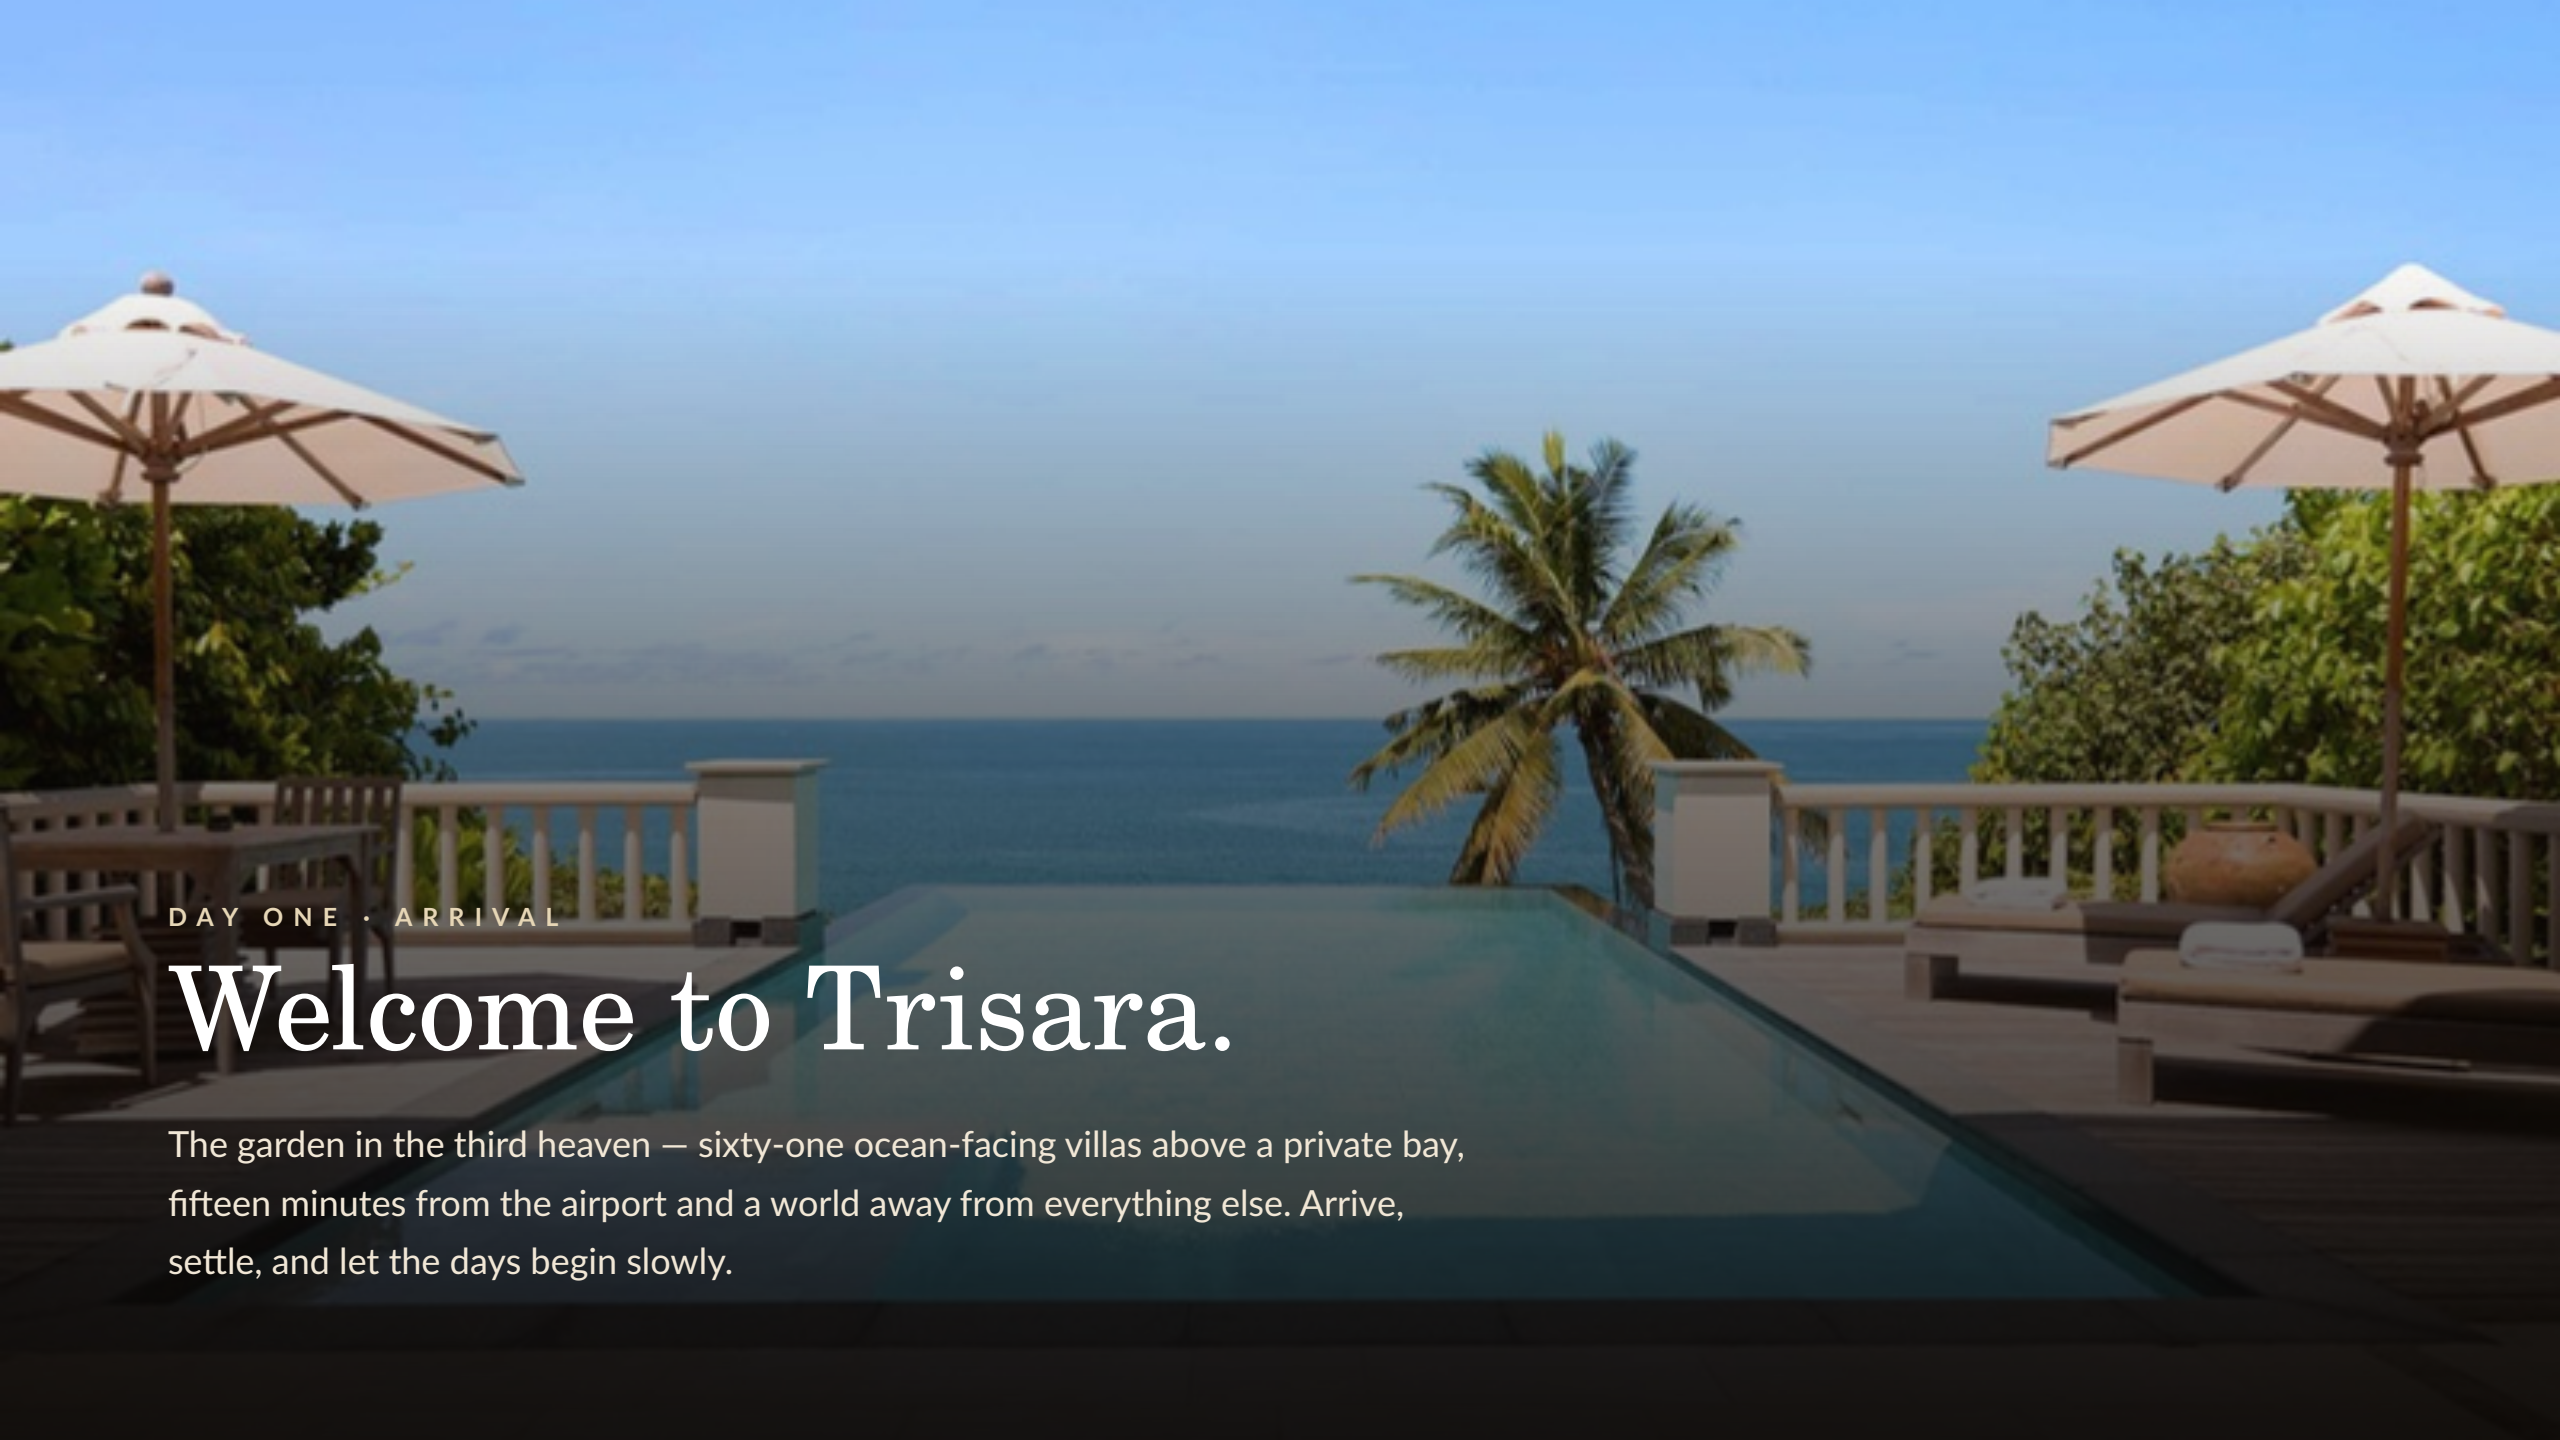

Vitality buys the years; purpose decides what they are for — and neither is ever quite finished, as leaders keep finding and shaping their own. The deepest, most lasting work is the third: connection — bringing family, partners and the people they lead to understand that purpose, and grow alongside it. It is why the chapter exists: an environment to share genuine perspectives, where vulnerability leads to trust.

HOW THE DAYS FEEL

Some things you have to feel.

You already carry the answers. What's rare is the room to live them — first light on the water, the forest and the farm, an honest hour together, a long table that runs late. Nothing here is taught; it is lived — and what is lived tends to stay.

A wide-angle photograph of a luxurious villa's outdoor space. In the foreground, a large, rectangular infinity pool stretches across the frame, its surface reflecting the clear blue sky. To the left, a wooden dining table and chairs are partially visible under a large, light-colored patio umbrella. To the right, there are lounge chairs and another similar umbrella. A white balustrade runs along the edge of the pool deck. In the background, a single palm tree stands prominently against the horizon, with the deep blue ocean extending to the sky. The overall atmosphere is serene and tropical.

DAY ONE · ARRIVAL

Welcome to Trisara.

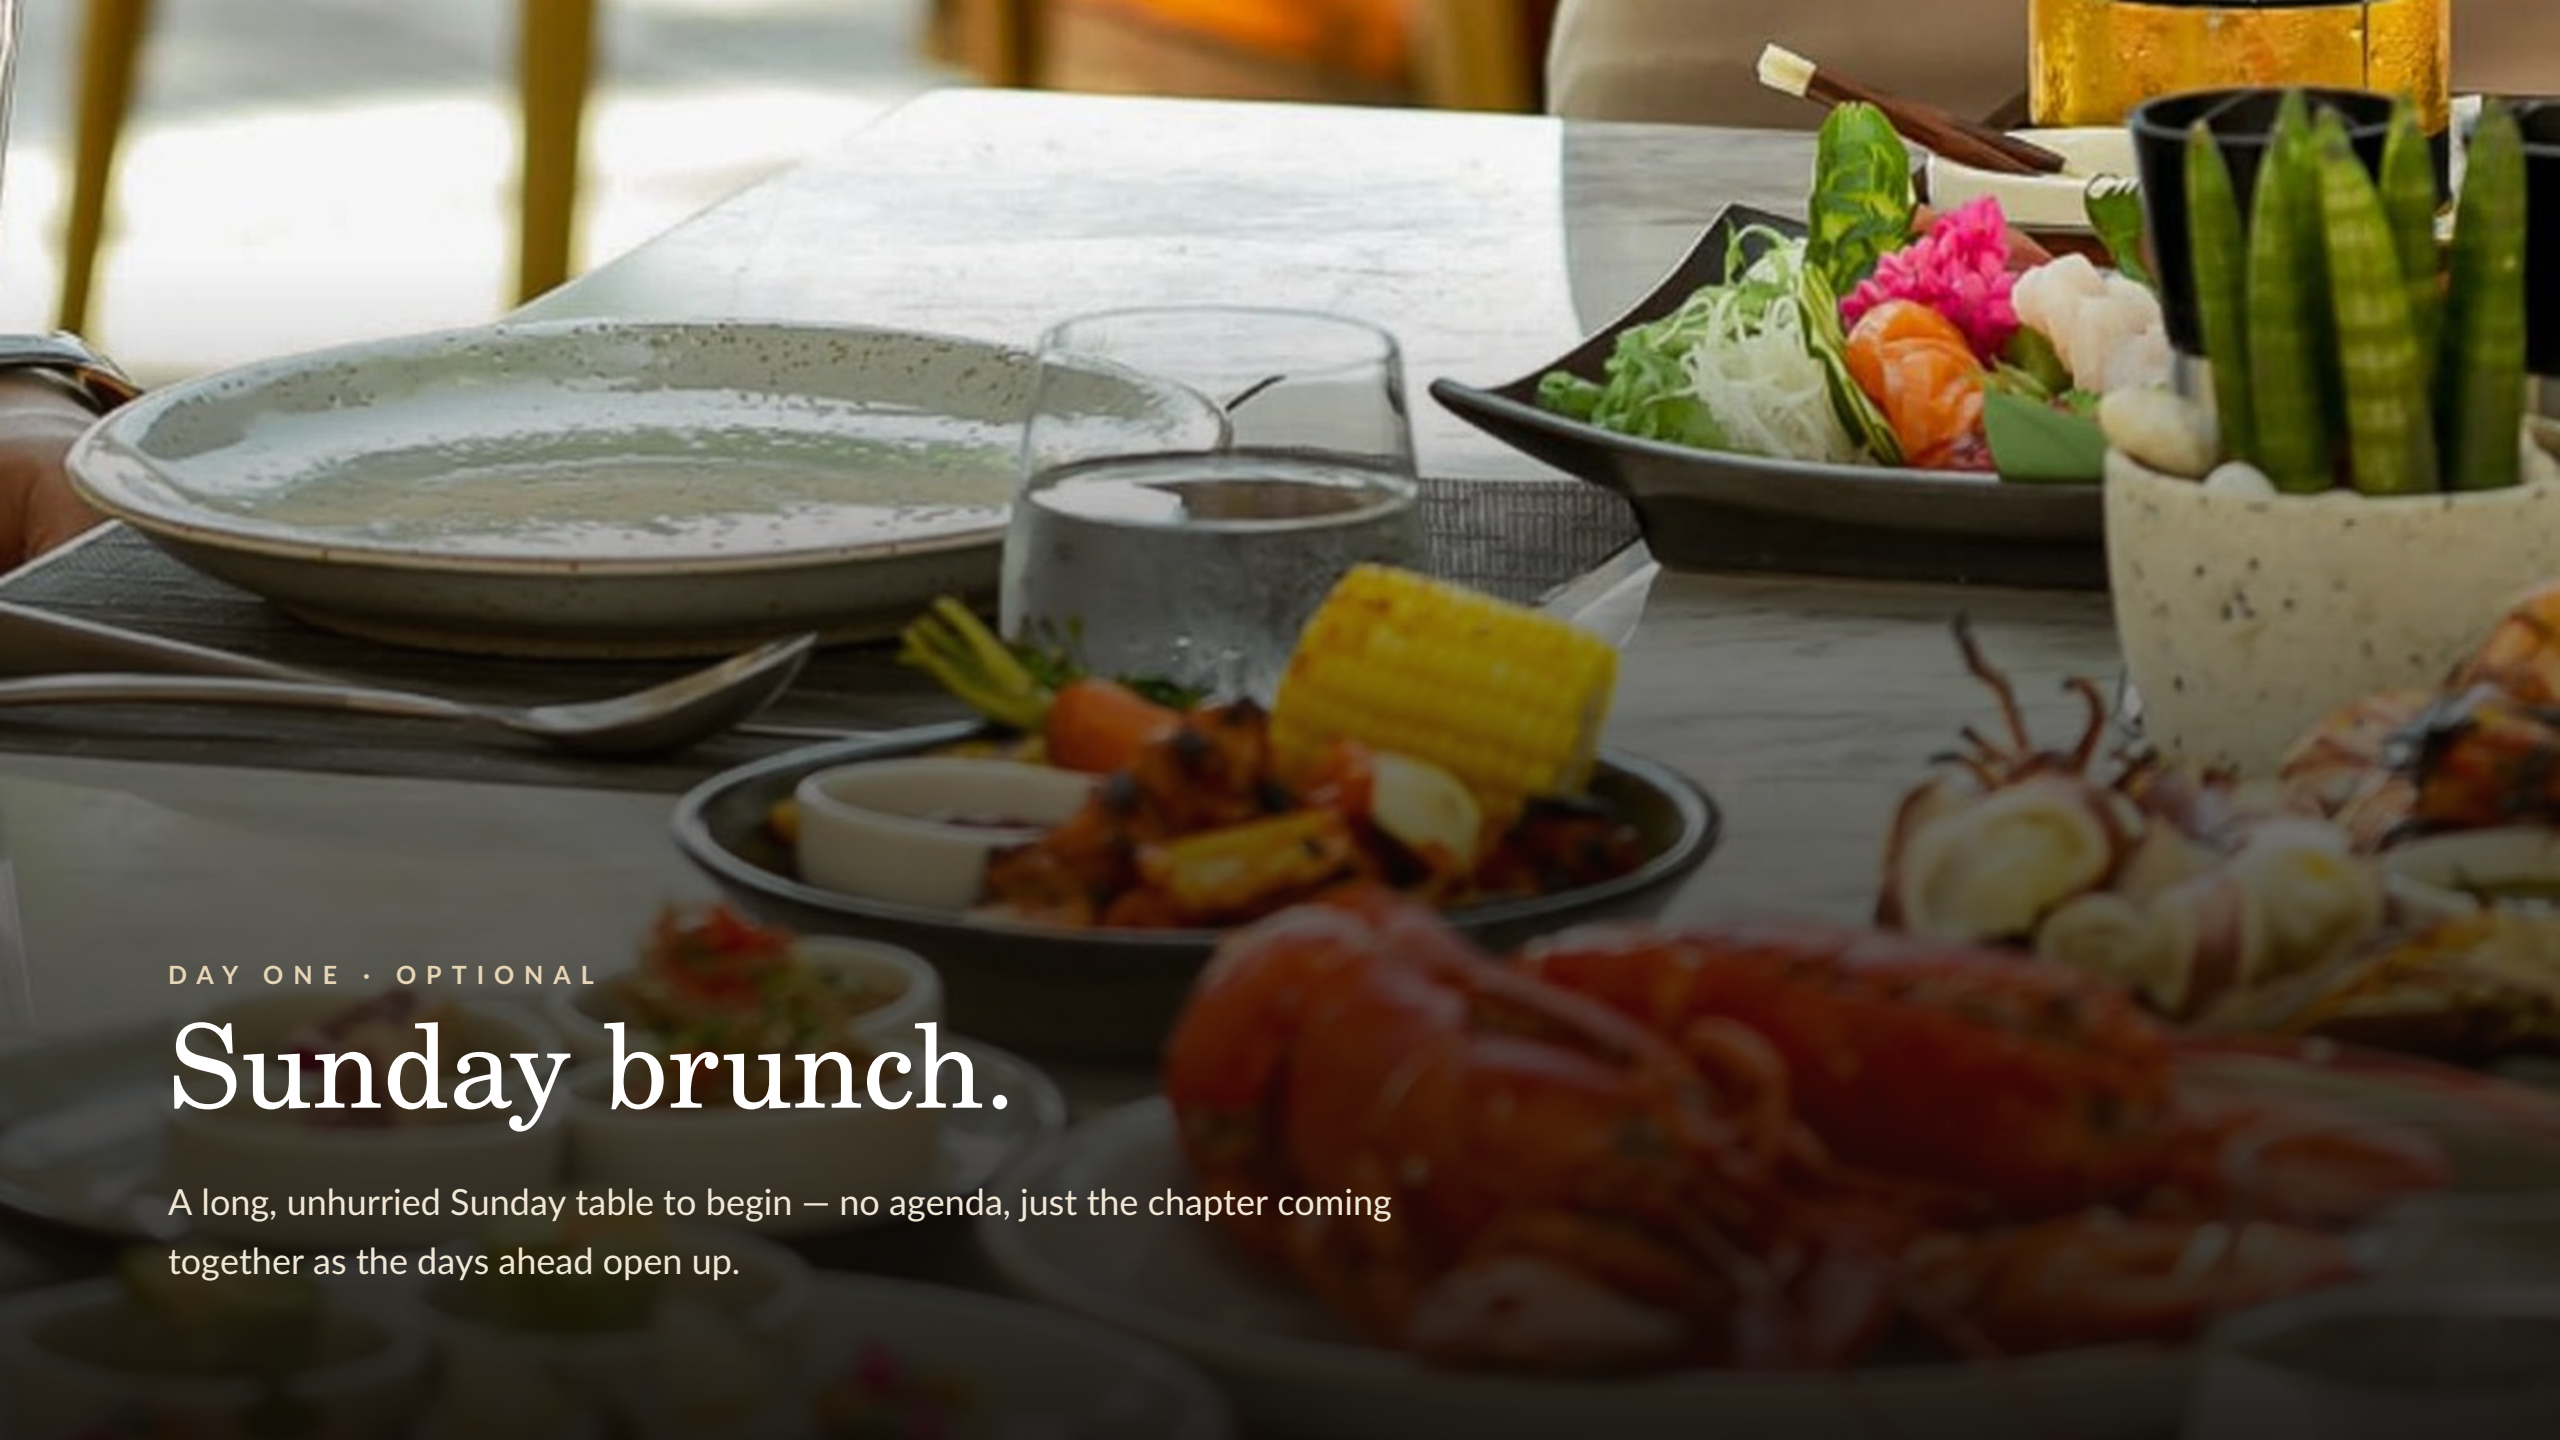

The garden in the third heaven — sixty-one ocean-facing villas above a private bay, fifteen minutes from the airport and a world away from everything else. Arrive, settle, and let the days begin slowly.

The background of the slide is a photograph of three people standing on a dark shore, looking out at the ocean under a vast, orange-hued sunset sky. The people are in silhouette, their forms dark against the bright horizon. The water is calm, reflecting the light from the sky. Some dark foliage is visible in the lower right corner.

DAY ONE • CONNECTION • OPTIONAL

Chapter Forums.

For those who wish, an afternoon of Forum — confidential, unguarded, the conversation only this room can have. Optional, and entirely yours.

A photograph of a dining table set for a meal. In the foreground, a large, cooked lobster is visible. Behind it, a plate contains corn on the cob, roasted vegetables, and a small white bowl. To the right, a black bowl holds a colorful salad with green beans, pink flowers, and other vegetables. A glass of water sits in the center. The background shows a white tablecloth and a window with yellow frames.

DAY ONE • OPTIONAL

Sunday brunch.

A long, unhurried Sunday table to begin — no agenda, just the chapter coming together as the days ahead open up.

DAY ONE · CONNECTION

The question, over dinner.

A welcome dinner at PRU — Phuket's one-Michelin-star table — an open-heart, open-kitchen evening hosted by Chef Jimmy Ophorst. As the plates arrive, one question travels around the table: a life worth extending, for what?

DAY TWO • VITALITY

The Business of Living Well

Four morning sessions, back to back • Clinique La Prairie Phuket

The World Ahead

Macro, markets and the forces shaping the decade — a candid read of the world, for the long view. A leading economist or futurist (expert TBD).

A Longevity Masterclass

The science of living longer, better — CLP's evidence-based approach, made personal. Delivered by a senior longevity physician (expert TBD).

Guided tour of the estate

Inside the clinic — where longevity is practised.

Longevity Lunch • Food as Medicine

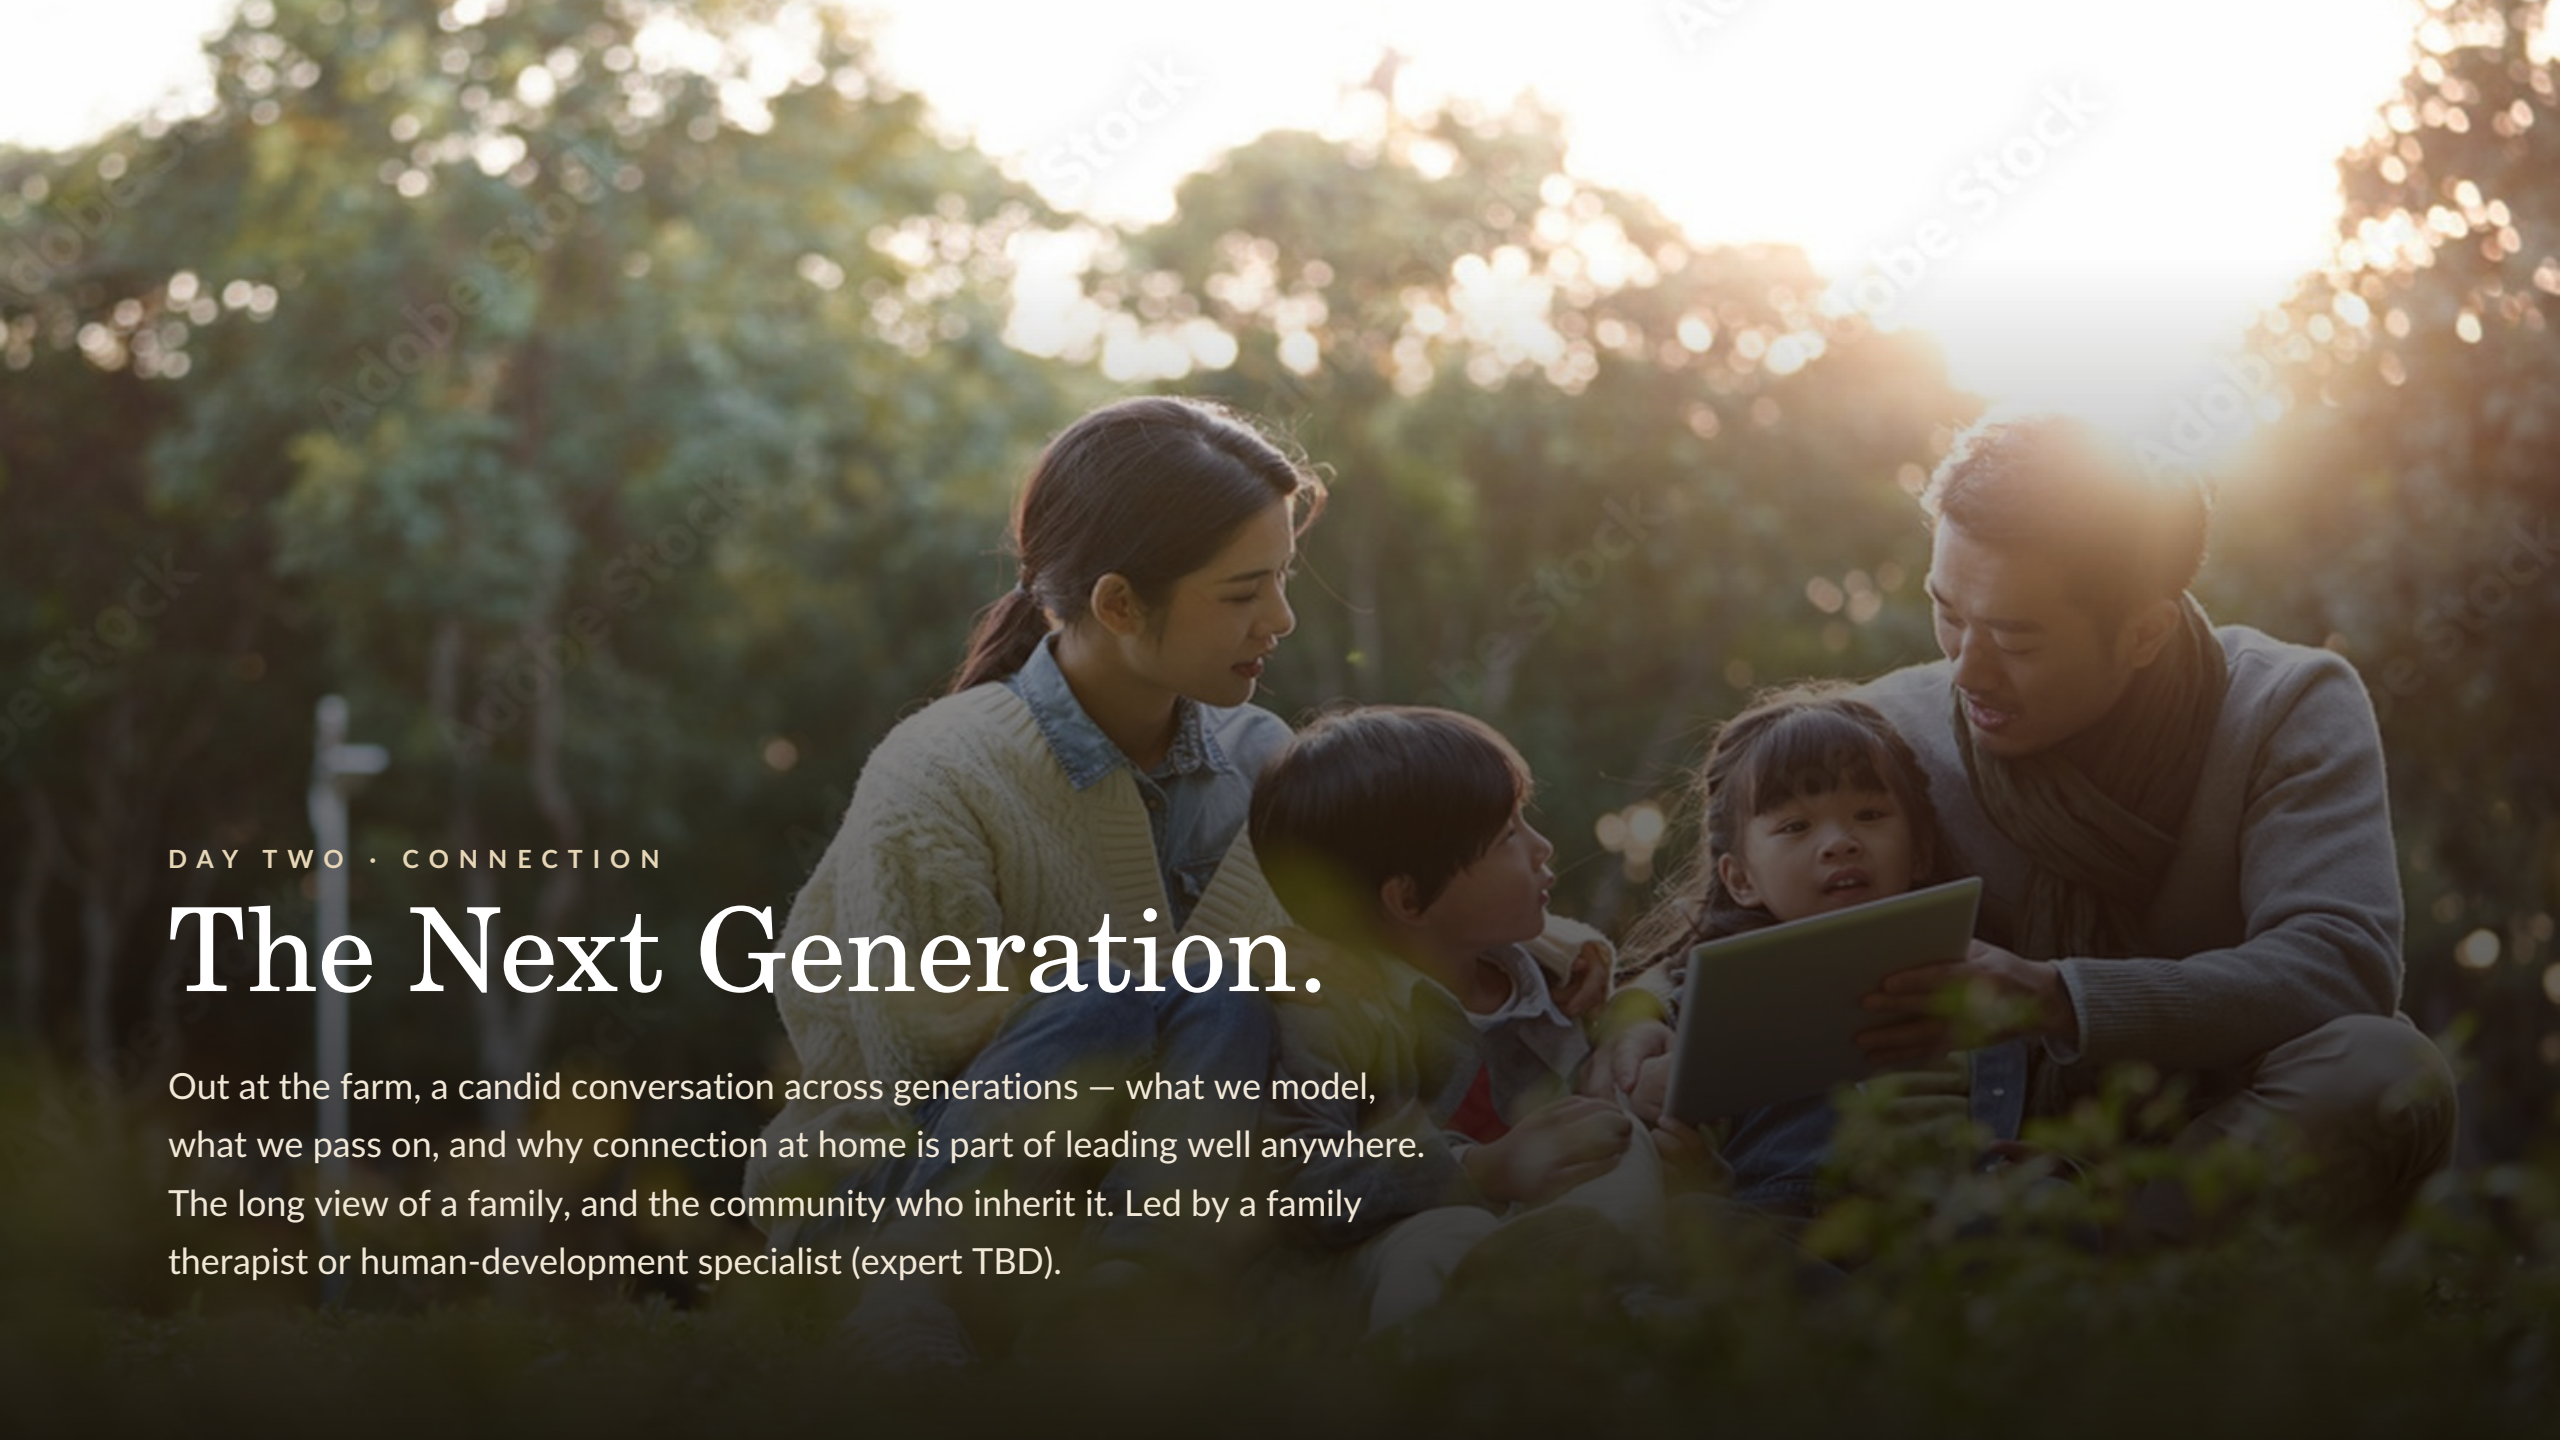

A chef's table built around eating for the years ahead.

An aerial photograph of a lush, green landscape. In the center, a large, circular building with a brown roof and a central courtyard is situated on a peninsula. A small boat is visible in the water near the building. The surrounding area is densely forested with various types of trees, including some with pink blossoms. In the background, a body of water stretches towards the horizon, with mountains visible in the distance. The sky is clear and blue.

DAY TWO · CONNECTION

The next chapter of Tri Vananda.

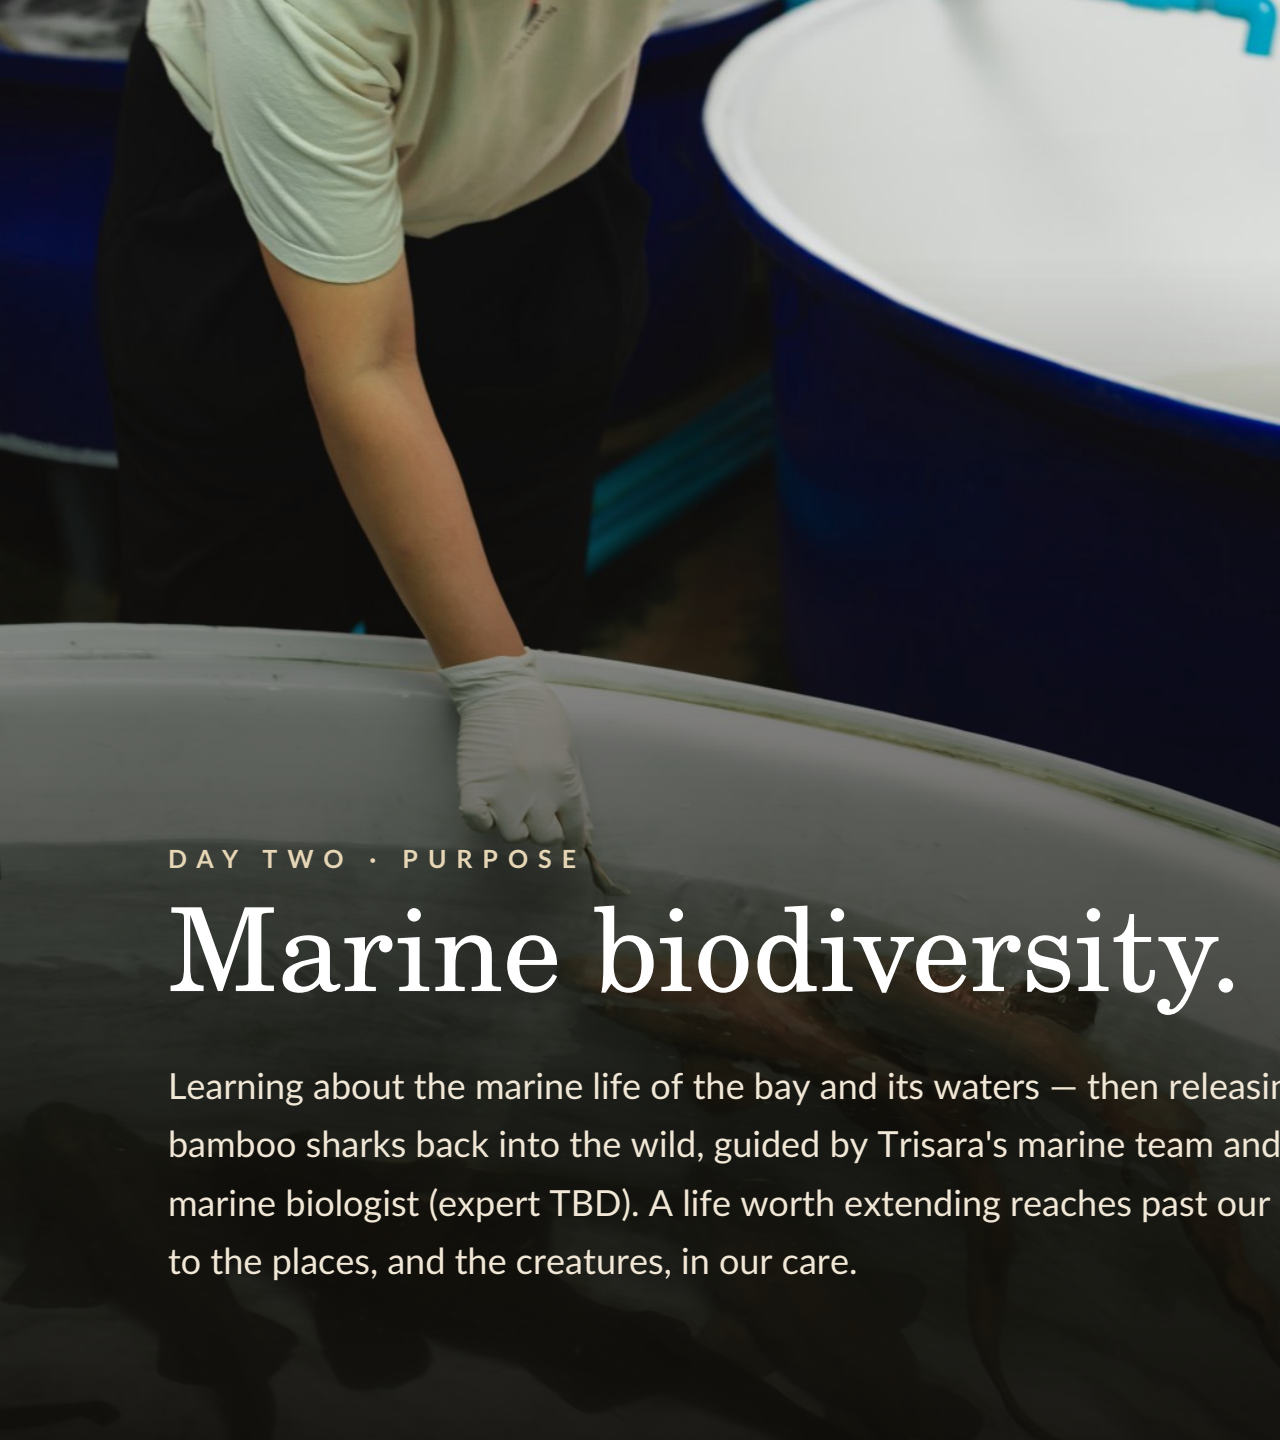

Beyond the retreat, a multigenerational wellness community is taking shape on Phuket — where longevity, nature and belonging are designed to last for generations. As our guest, you are among the first to see what comes next.

DAY TWO • CONNECTION

The Next Generation.

Out at the farm, a candid conversation across generations — what we model, what we pass on, and why connection at home is part of leading well anywhere. The long view of a family, and the community who inherit it. Led by a family therapist or human-development specialist (expert TBD).

DAY TWO · PURPOSE

Marine biodiversity.

Learning about the marine life of the bay and its waters — then releasing bamboo sharks back into the wild, guided by Trisara's marine team and a marine biologist (expert TBD). A life worth extending reaches past our own — to the places, and the creatures, in our care.

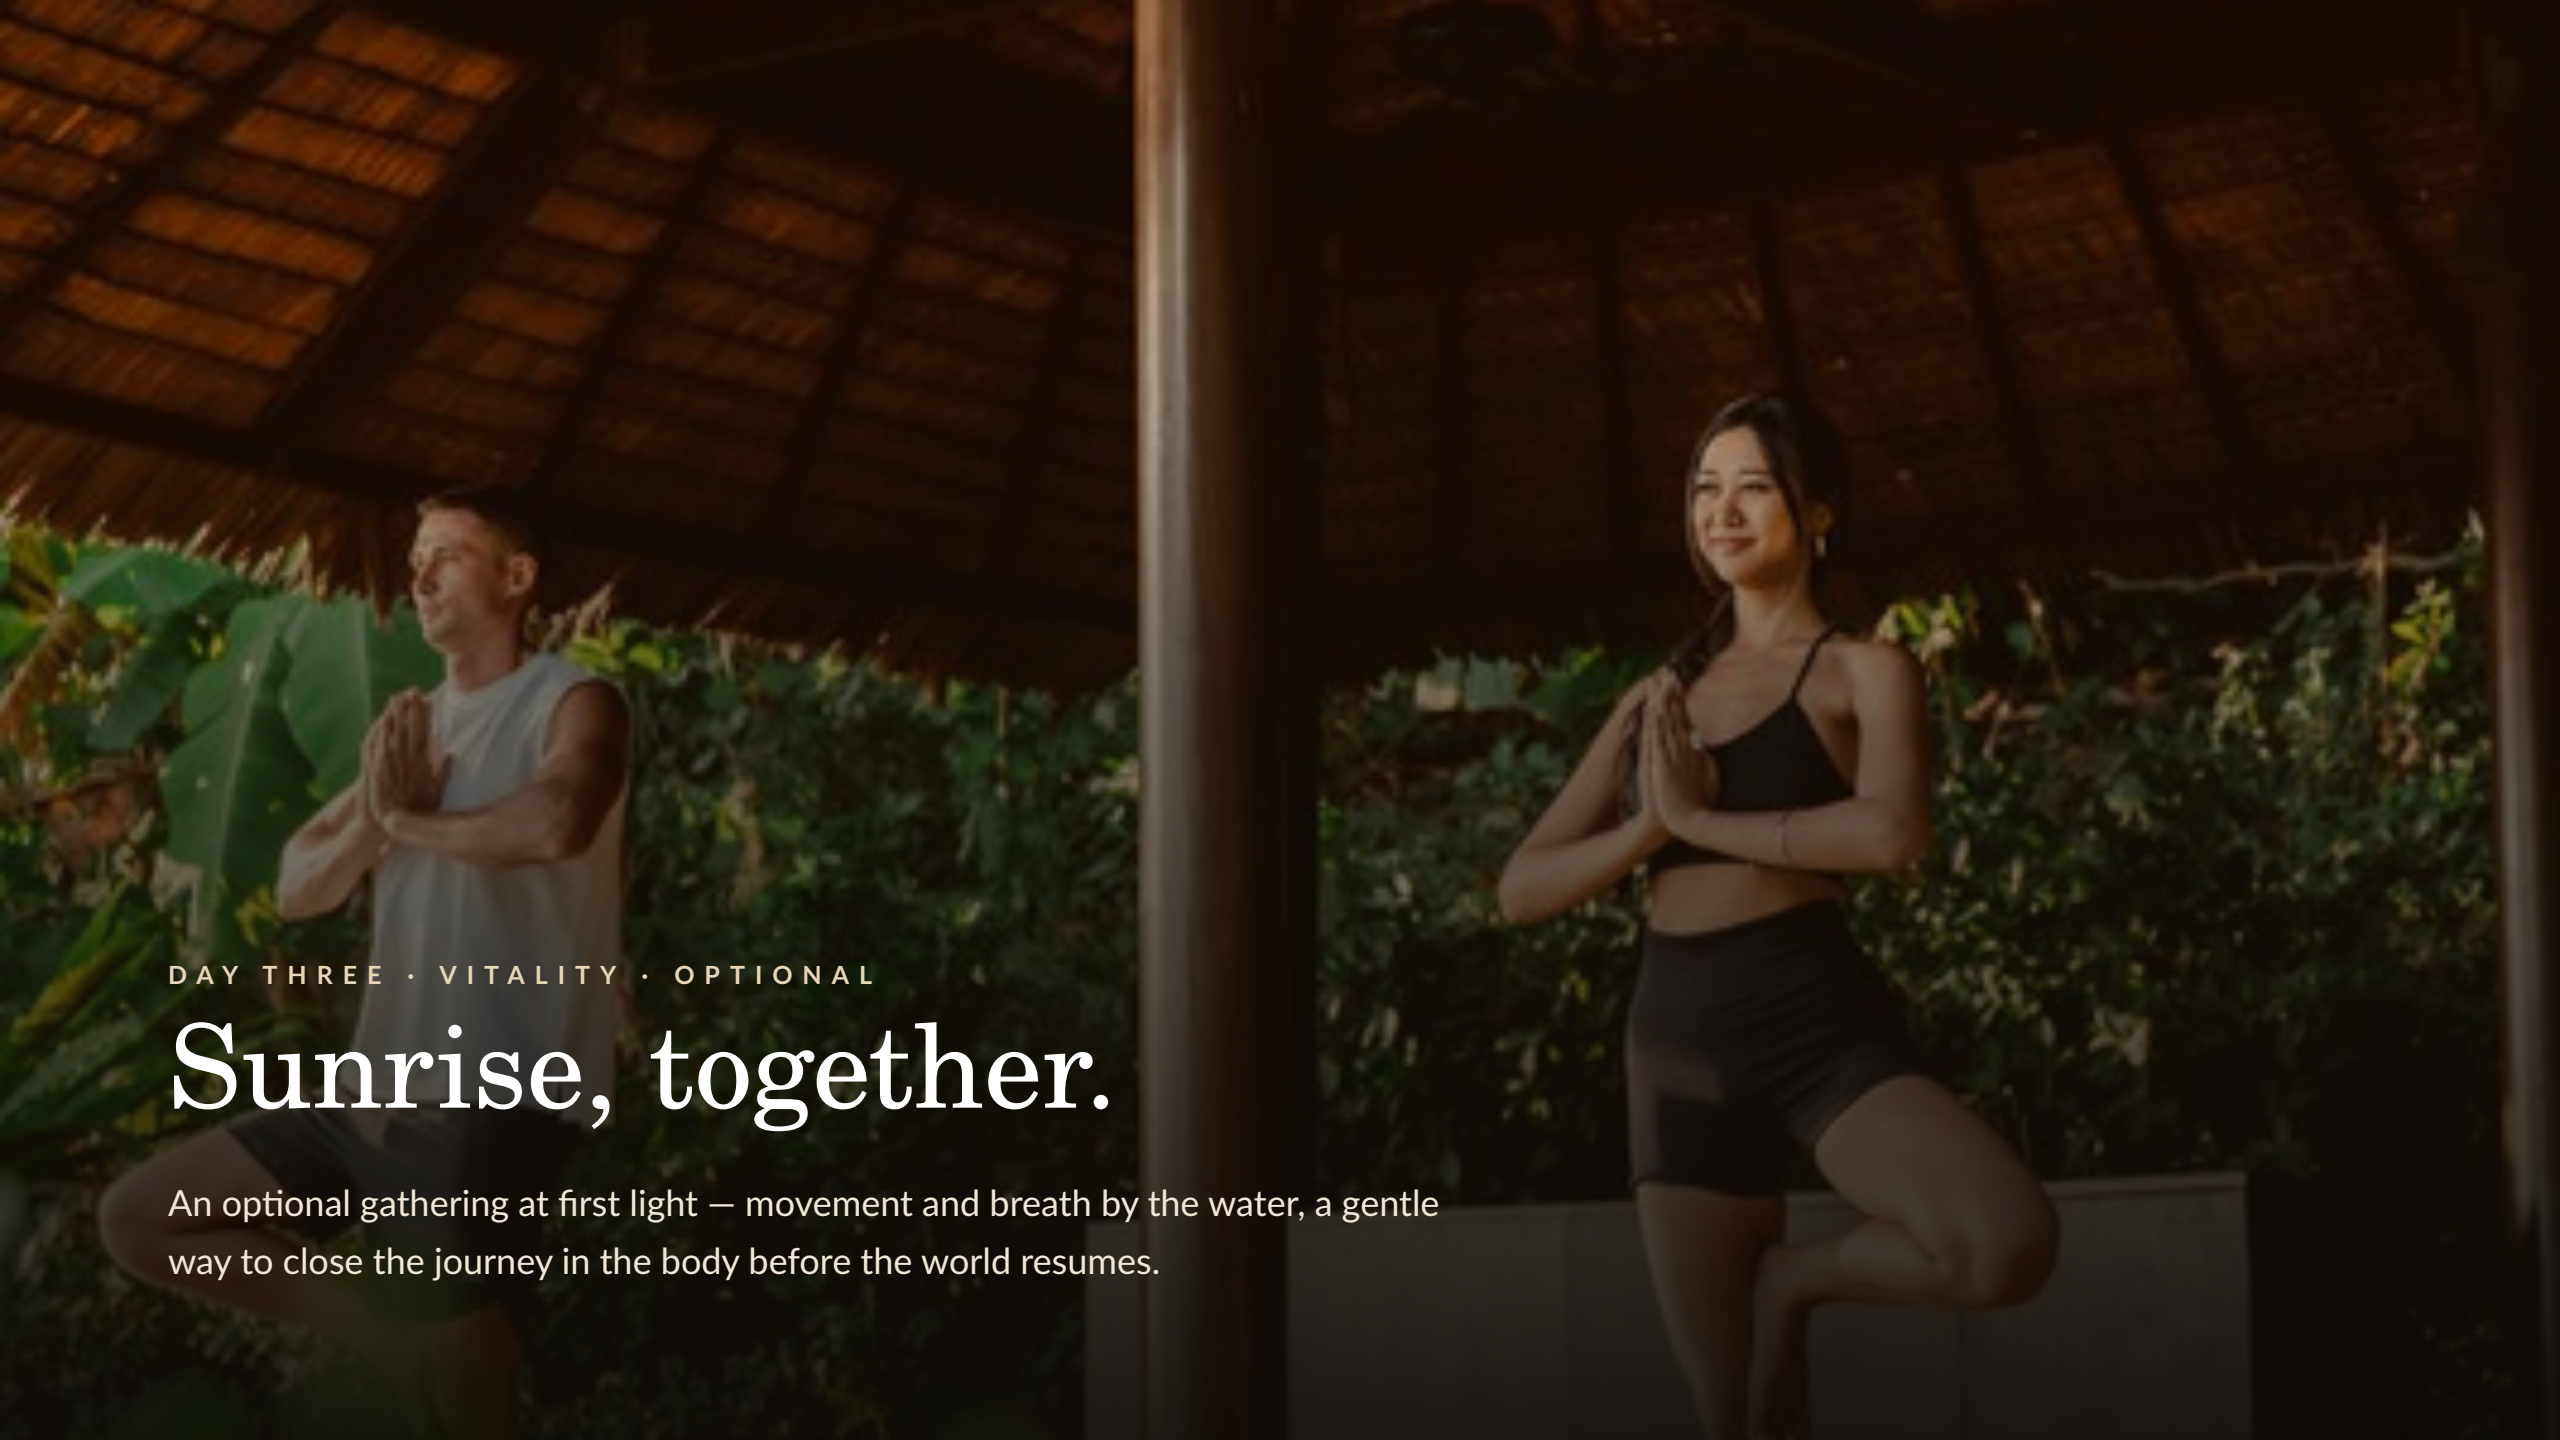

DAY TWO · CONNECTION

Fire, stars, and the long table.

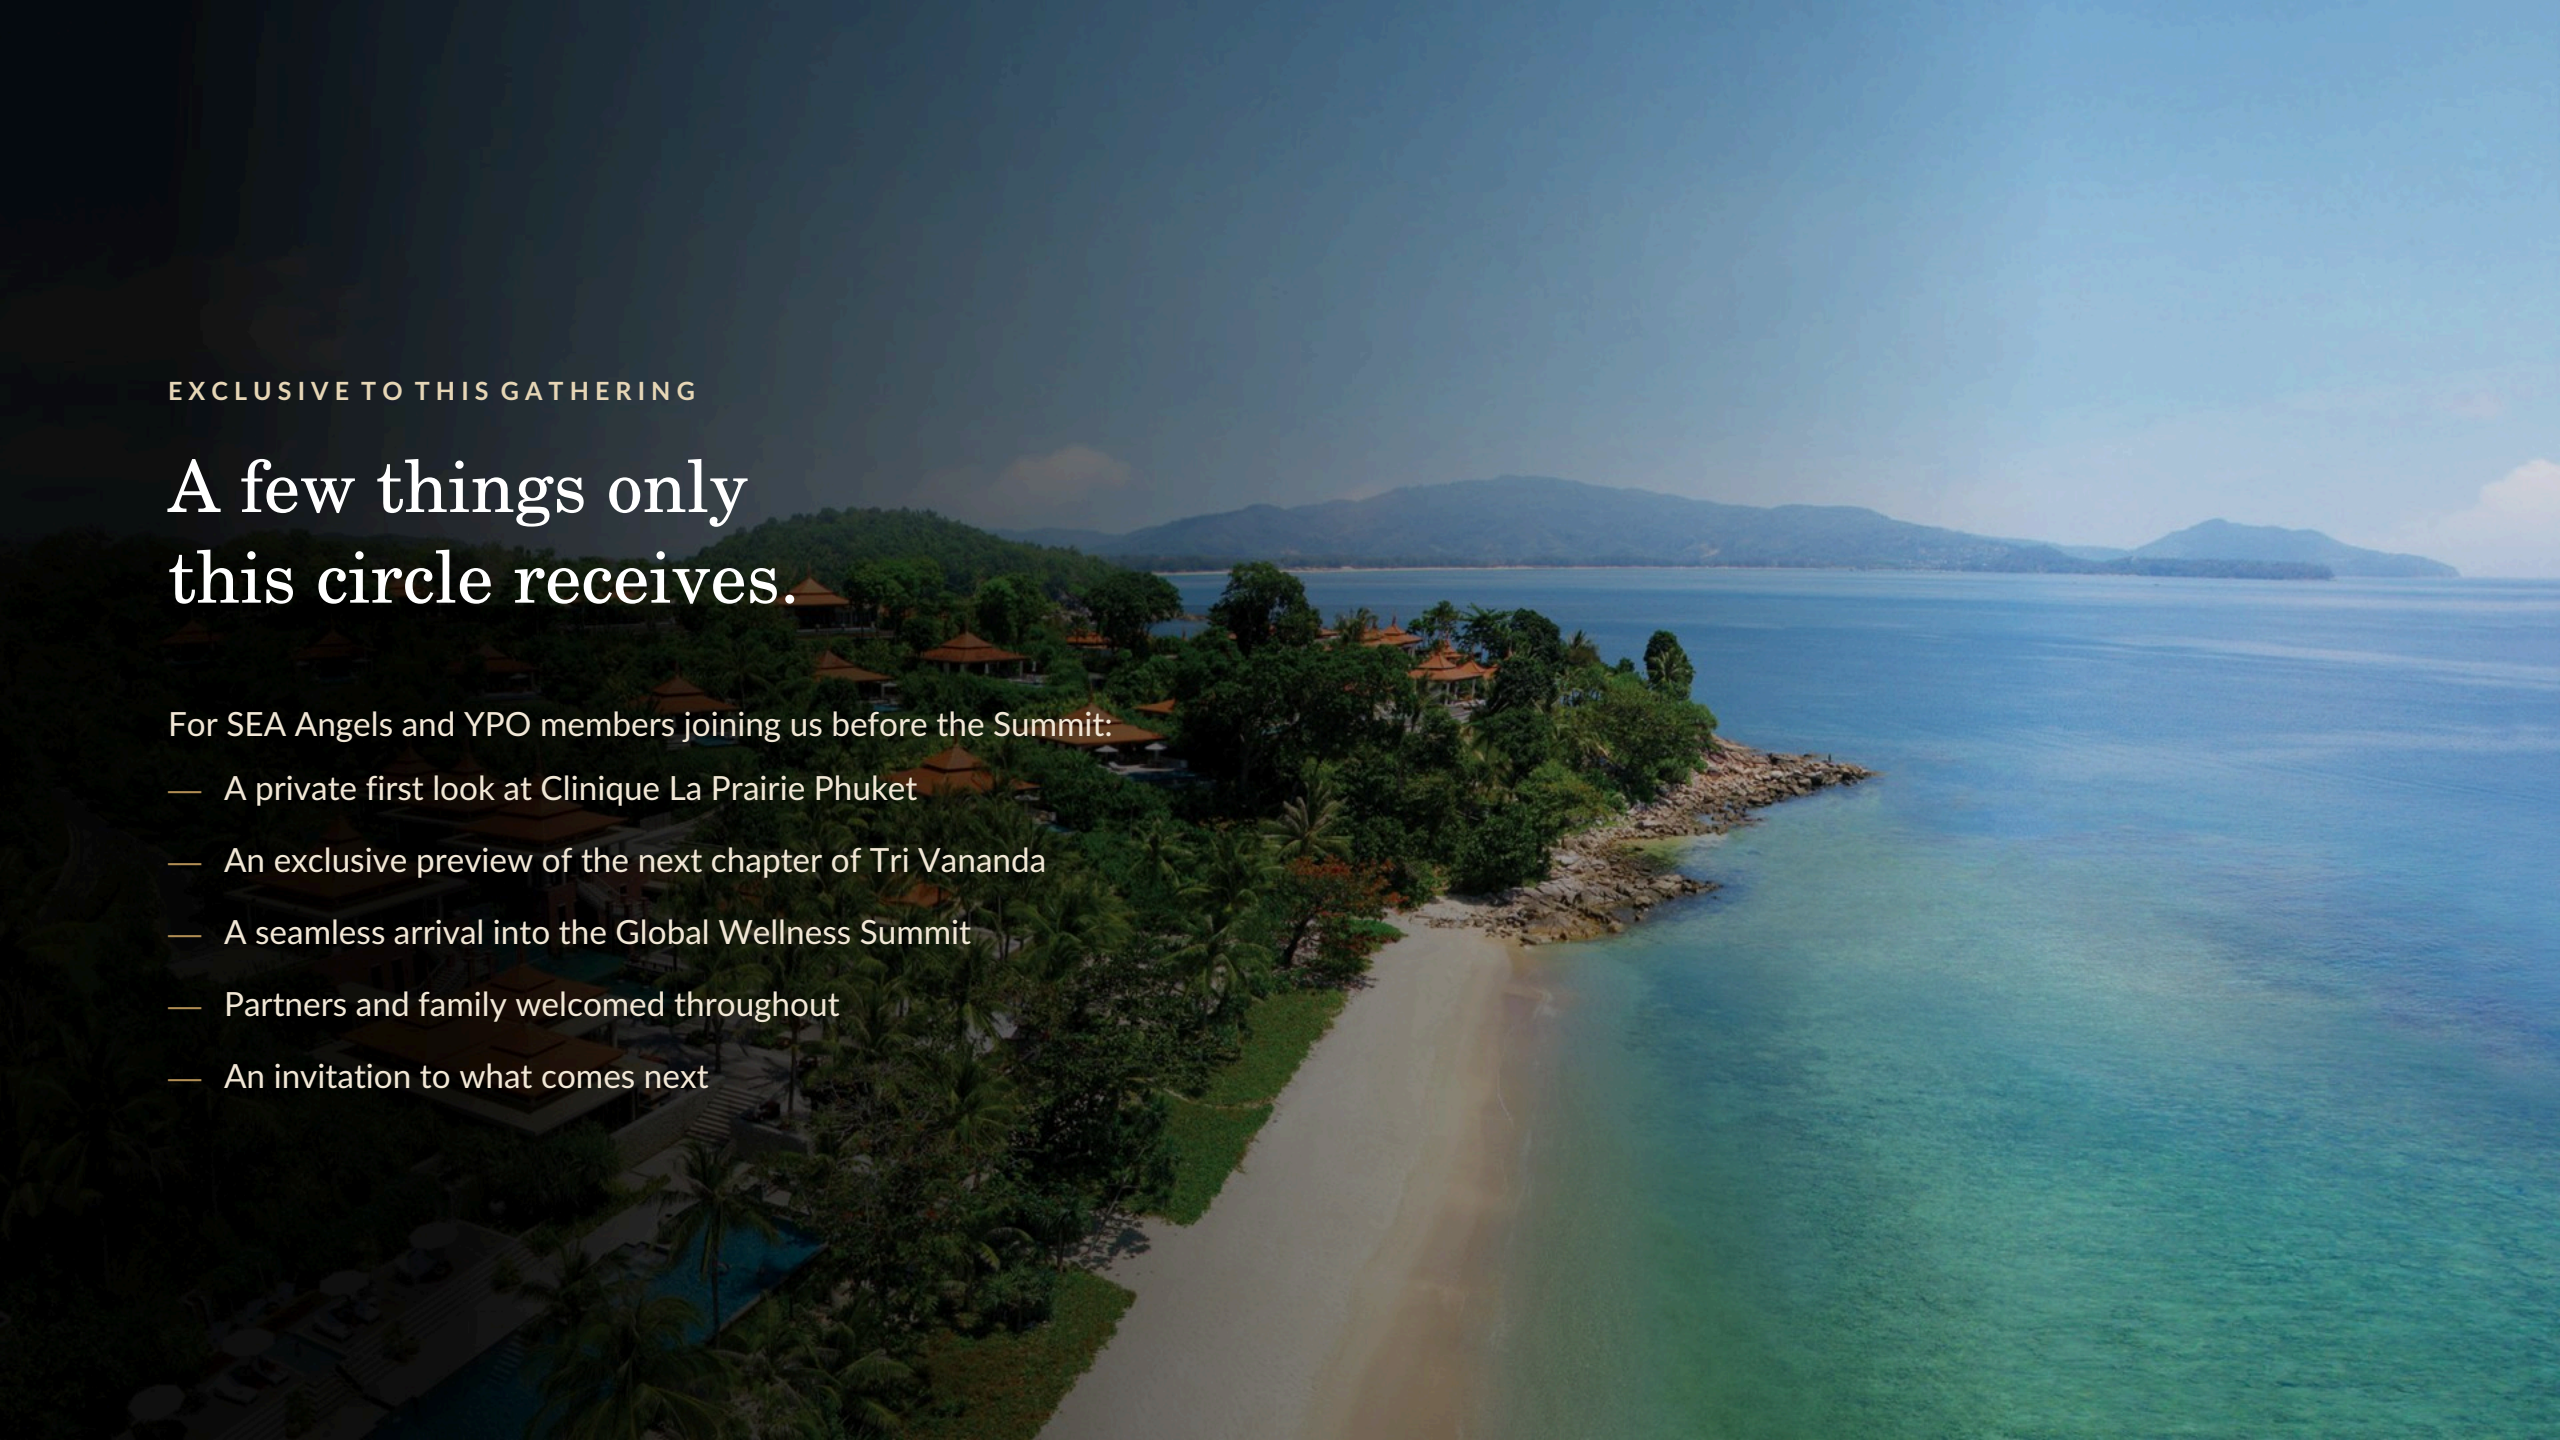

A private beach dinner where the chapter trades what the day surfaced — flame-lit, barefoot, unhurried — before an after-party under the stars.

A man and a woman are practicing yoga in a tropical setting. The man, on the left, is wearing a light blue sleeveless shirt and dark shorts, performing a tree pose. The woman, on the right, is wearing a black sports bra and black shorts, also in a tree pose. They are standing on a wooden platform under a thatched roof, with lush green foliage in the background.

DAY THREE • VITALITY • OPTIONAL

Sunrise, together.

An optional gathering at first light — movement and breath by the water, a gentle way to close the journey in the body before the world resumes.

An aerial photograph of a tropical resort, likely in Phuket, Thailand. The resort features several buildings with traditional Thai-style roofs, surrounded by lush greenery and palm trees. A sandy beach runs along the edge of the property, meeting the clear, turquoise waters of the Andaman Sea. In the background, a range of mountains is visible under a clear blue sky.
